

ITALY IN NEW OFFENSIVE AGAINST TRIEST

Teutons Continue Their Drive of Rumanians Out of Transylvania

FRENCH VICTORY

Allies Report New Successes Against Bulgars in Macedonia

The Italians have again taken the offensive against the Austrians in their endeavor to reach Trieste. Austria's chief port on the Adriatic, and at several points south and southeast of Gorizia, have made good progress, in addition to taking nearly 6,000 prisoners.

South of Gorizia, the Austrian line was broken between Tobar and Verbohn, according to reports, and on the Carso front, trench lines between the Vipac river and hill 208 were captured. Here the town of Novavilla and strong positions around the northern part of the hill fell into the hands of the attackers. Trenches in the Carso region also have been won by the Italians and 530 Austrians made prisoner.

In Transylvania, the Teutons are continuing their drive of the Rumanians along almost all of the front. Bulgarian troops, which captured the Rotherthum pass, now have crossed the border into Roumania. According to Bucharest, which admits the retirement of the Rumanians around Kronstadt, fierce Teutonic attacks were repulsed south of Hermannstadt with heavy casualties to the attackers.

Berlin concedes the capture by the French of a German salient near Verdun, according to reports, and also by the British of first line trenches near Salmy, north of the Somme. Counter attacks by Germans on positions of the French in the Chaulnes wood have been repulsed.

In Greek Macedonia, the British have made a small advance, occupying Papalova and Prohenik, while the French have taken trenches on the heights west of Deredjil.

Pierce fighting is going on between Bulgarians and the Serbs on the front below. Monastir, Berlin says, that along the Corna river and west of Vardar, intense allied attacks were repulsed.

SANTA ROSA FOR GOVERNOR JOHNSON

Petaluma Also Turns Out to Hear Candidate for Senator

(Special to The Republican.) SANTA ROSA, Oct. 11.—Nearly two thousand people crowded Dreamland rink here tonight to hear Governor Hiram W. Johnson speak on the issues of the campaign. The only meeting comparable with it in attendance and enthusiasm was the gathering addressed by the governor in his campaign in 1914.

Glen Starbuck, chairman of the Republican committee, introduced Rolfe Thompson as chairman. "Santa Rosa is honored by the presence of a man not only great in California, but great in the nation and now recognized as one of the country's best known, most courageous leaders," said Thompson.

If there has been any doubt as to the complete remitting of the old division between different wings of the party, it was dissipated tonight, when J. E. Noble, county committeeman and editor of the Santa Rosa Republican, made the statement of the old line Republicans, took his place on the platform as a vice president.

The governor addressed a crowd of five hundred in the morning in Petaluma. P. A. Cromwell, an attorney with banking interests and a member of the State Committee, was chairman. He said, "The Johnson administration took the judiciary out of politics, gave us school children free text books, gave us the railroad commission, which lowered the fares that burdened the state for a half-century, gave us such humanitarian laws as the minimum wage for women, the workmen's compensation act, the eight-hour law for women, in so much that today, the governor is a man who has made a hundred million people in the land."

Among the vice presidents at the Petaluma meeting were Mayor Horvick, George P. McNear, county committeeman, and George Ott. In the afternoon the Women's Clubhouse was too small to accommodate those who would listen to the governor. More than a hundred stood in the doorway, and scores were unable to get near the sound of his voice. E. M. Norton, a state committeeman, presided and introduced Johnson as "California's greatest Governor, our new United States Senator and some day the President of the United States."

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 11.—Vast sums of money were spent in the development of oil land holdings in Kern county, according to officials and attorneys representing four different companies, who testified in the hearings today before Judge Robert S. Dean, in the United States district court. The Brookshire company spent $262,770 for development purposes, testified Henry Beeher, secretary. Officials of the Midway Pacific Company said they spent $275,000; the United Oil company, $128,000; the Conkline-Montgomery Company, $45,000.

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 11.—Police records, it was ascertained here today, show that a total of 40,000 gallons of liquor valued at $100,000 wholesale has been seized in raids here, in connection with the enforcement of Washington's prohibition law since May 1.

Complete Breakdown of International Rights Is Due to Wilson Policy

(Special to The Republican.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Taking the exploits of the German submarine U-53 off the shores of America as his text, Col. Roosevelt has launched another broadside against President Wilson. Roosevelt declares that the conduct of the war has led to a complete breakdown of the code of international rights, and this he blames on the "Pontius-Pilate construction which President Wilson has put on neutrality."

"The sentence 'He kept us out of war' which is one of the chief arguments of the Democratic campaign," Roosevelt declares, "is the phrase of a coward and 'utterly misleading.'"

"President Wilson declared that the war and the issues of right and wrong involved in its conduct and methods were of no concern to America, the leading neutral," says Col. Roosevelt. "He thereby put America in the position of refusing to do her duty to others. He inspired contempt in others. This inspired aggression by others. In the face of this aggression, he speedily put America in a position of refusing to do her duty to her own citizens. Step by step, international law has been broken down."

"By the attacks of German submarines upon merchantmen the lives of hundreds of Americans were sacrificed in a course which culminated in the sinking of the Lusitania. In a similar fashion the commercial rights of property upon the sea were invaded by England and the whole structure of international law for the protection of commerce and private property was broken down."

"The invasion of the rights of men and women as to their lives was far more serious than the invasion of property rights, and it was this invasion that called forth first and strongest action on our part; but if we had taken such action it would have become our duty, a duty then easily performed, to instantly and fully protect our property rights."

"Many men question whether it will ever again be safe for nations to become interdependent by allowing themselves so far as their necessities are concerned to depend upon foreign sources of supply. The theory of having each nation or group of nations build a Chinese wall around its borders is being discussed because of the complete breakdown of the code of international rights."

"The responsibility for this breakdown rests primarily on the Pontius-Pilate construction which President Wilson has put upon neutrality. Now the war has been carried to our very shores. There is no American who does not realize the awful tragedy of this indifference and inaction. Nineteen tens of millions of people are being wise in time. By taking the right step at the right time, America's influence and leadership might have been made a stabilizing force. President Wilson's ignominious shirking of responsibility has been clothed in an utterly misleading phrase, the phrase of a coward, 'He kept us out of war.' In actual reality war has been creeping nearer and nearer, until it stares at us from just beyond our three mile limit, and we face it without policy, plan, purpose or preparation. No sane man can today be so blind as to believe President Wilson's original statement that the war was of no concern to us. Every thinking man must realize the utter futility of a statesmanship without plan or policy until such facts as these now stare it in the face."

ADMINISTRATION STILL DEBATING SUBMARINE RAID

Was Germany Testing Out U. S. Government? Nothing More Heard of U-53

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—The policy of the United States regarding the recent U-boat raid off the New England coast will not be determined until much more complete information as to all of the facts has been received. This was announced by Secretary Lansing tonight after his return from his conference on the subject with President Wilson at Shadow Lawn.

Although the secretary declined to elaborate on his statement, other officials indicated that much would depend on Rear Admiral Knight's forthcoming report on all the naval phases of the raid, particularly the steps taken to insure the safety of passengers. The secretary was emphatic in declaring that the government's attitude would remain undetermined until a complete investigation had been made, but it would not indicate what impressions he had gained from the President, with whom final decision rests.

Officials here expect that the report from Rear Admiral Knight will be ready for consideration within a few days.

Whether the German commander took proper care for the safety of the persons he put into small boats from the attacked vessels is a question involving points on which officials believe there is no clear precedent and on which a decision by the United States might be approximately a precedent, at least as far as concerns any further submarine operations Germany may contemplate on this side of the Atlantic.

Neutrality Board

Before any policy is determined upon, it is expected that the opinion of the neutrality board, created at the beginning of the war to advise the State department in regard to such questions, will be consulted. The board was called into session immediately after the boat appeared off the coast of the Atlantic and several meetings have been held since. Any decision it renders will be submitted to Secretary Lansing but will not be binding. Much significance is attached to the findings of this board which in the Appam case for instance, laid down the policy approved by the department and which was upheld in the courts. Considerable interest centers on the continued silence of the Allied neutrals. Again today it was stated positively at the State department that no representations of any sort had been received from the allies as a result of the U-53's depredations off the American coast.

Not Parallel Case

Evidence is accumulating to indicate that in case the actual operations of submarines in the western Atlantic in guided by the principles of international law, their presence off the coast will not be considered offensive, as was the case with the allied cruisers which the United States asked to have withdrawn earlier in the war. Officials pointed out today that the Allied vessels were only a few miles off land while the U-boat operations were at least fifty miles from the nearest land and twenty miles from the main land. Neither has there arisen any case of the Germans pursuing vessels straight down the coast as did one of the British cruisers, or operating so close to American territorial waters as to require a neutrality patrol. It is realized, however, that should a practical blockade of American ports develop, the government would consider it has grounds for action.

The character and rights of American cargo on board the ships already sunk also is a subject that being considered by the State department. It is decided that the ships were sunk legally, there is considerable doubt as to how far American shippers can go in pressing for damages from Germany. If the ships were sunk illegally, bills for indemnity can be entered.

Naval experts are perplexed over the absolute silence surrounding the U-53, since her immense foray off Nantucket.

Was This Test Raid

Many of the officers now believe she was sent out on an experimental raid to try out her cruising capabilities, to test her powers of destruction here, and to develop the attitude of the United States in a diplomatic sense. Having accomplished all these objects, they believe she is now on her way home again to report and replenish. Another theory is that possibly she has fallen victim to one of the many armed liners that would have crossed her path off Nantucket. The allies usually do not make public the destruction of submarines in this way. The theory that the submarine has gone south to a base in the West Indies or the Caribbean is not generally held.

BRITISH SHIPPING IS STILL TIMID

Admiralty Forbids Departure From American Ports in Fear of U-53

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—Although there was no news today to indicate that the German submarine U-53 was still lurking in the Atlantic sea lanes and while some shipping interests believe she has headed for Heligoland, there was evidence that the British admiralty will proceed with caution in allowing British ships to depart from Atlantic coast ports.

Shipping circles heard today that Admiral Montague Browning in command of the British fleet at Halifax, had issued orders detaining the British merchant vessels now in Atlantic ports until such a time as it was deemed safe for them to depart. A dozen other British ships, including the big White Star passenger liner Adriatic, got their clearance papers today.

The Adriatic, White Star officials said, will sail at noon tomorrow and prospective passengers have been notified. The continued absence of evidence indicating additional submarine activities off the Atlantic lanes resulted in a reduction today in marine insurance rates from the high mark struck Monday. Rates were quoted at 2 1/2 per cent, a drop of 30 per cent from the general quotation earlier in the week.

Probably Going Home

There was a strong tendency in naval circles today to believe that the U-53 is headed for her base at Heligoland. This belief is founded on the knowledge that the cruising radius of the U-53 class boats does not exceed 700 miles, or just sufficient to permit making a voyage out from Heligoland via the north of Scotland to Newport and return. It is considered possible that sufficient extra fuel was carried to permit a short stay on the operating ground.

"One report was shorted was that the U-53 took on board a crew of 100 men, including a German officer, the Christian-Knuden before sinking that craft. In the event that the U-53 has not been able to replenish her fuel tanks, the crew would be compelled to follow the line of the gulf stream to the 'corner' as it is known to navigators. ## ALLIES COMPEL GREEKS TO GIVE UP FLEET

Railway From Piraeus to Larissa Also to Be Taken Over

FEAR TREACHERY

Warships Are to Be Disarmed and Crews Reduced to One-third

LONDON, Oct. 12, 5:28 a. m.—Greece has accepted the demands of the Entente powers, says the Daily Chronicle's Athens correspondent. The dispatch says that the Greek government added a protest to its notification of acceptance. A telephone message received at Athens from Piraeus says that the sailing over of the Greek navy to the Allied naval authorities has already begun.

LONDON, Oct. 11.—(11:41 a. m.)—Vice Admiral D'Arville du Fournet, commander of the Anglo-French fleet in the Mediterranean, has presented to Greece an ultimatum demanding that Greece hand over the entire Greek fleet, except the armored cruiser Averoff and the battleships Lemnos and Kiklis, to the Entente Allies by 1 o'clock Wednesday afternoon, according to the officers of the fleet. Demand is also made for the control of the Piraeus-Larissa Railway.

"The minister of marine," the correspondent continues, "says Vice Admiral D'Arville's demands will be complied with and that the fleet will be handed over before the prescribed time."

"The demands were made as a precautionary measure to insure the safety of the Allies' fleet."

It is explained that the dispatch of artillery and ammunition to the Allies, the presence of Greek ships and the continued activity of the re-serve forces have aroused fears of a disturbance at points where the Allies' war vessels are anchored, and also endanger the security of the Allied troops on the Balkan front.

Vice Admiral D'Arville demands the disarmament of the Kiklis, Lemnos and Averoff and the dismantling of the forts on the sea coast, while the two forts commanding the fleet's moorings are to be made over to the admiralty. Control of certain points must also be placed in the hands of the Anglo-French authorities.

In addition to the disarmament of the warships named, their crews are to be reduced to one-third the regular complement.

Lend to Germany

BERLIN, Oct. 11.—(Via wireless to Sayville.)—Subscriptions from neutral countries to the fifth German war loan, says the Overseas News Agency, passed the five million mark for the fourth time. The German newspapers comment with satisfaction on this fact, which they say proves the confidence of neutral countries in German power and efficiency. A dispatch from Warsaw says that the eastern bank receipts for subscriptions amounting to 1,000,000 marks.

Needs More Money

BERLIN, via London, Oct. 11.—A bill for a new war credit of 12,000,000 marks, still shortly to be submitted to the Reichstag. The bill has only one precautionary character but is deemed necessary because the margin between the credit granted in June, 1916, totaling 52,000,000 marks, and the sum of 47,000,000 marks raised through the five war loans, has become rather small. The new bill, before being next passed, the government hopes to get along until then with the funds on hand and the help of short term treasury notes.

COUNTRY BANKS HAVE MORE MONEY

Wider Distribution of Funds Is Shown in Federal Report

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—A new high record for resources and deposits and a wider distribution of money than ever before will be shown by complete returns from the National Bank call of September 12, in the opinion of the treasury officials, after an examination of figures reported by five reserve cities and country banks in several states. Most of the big eastern money centers have lost materially in deposits since the call of May 1, but smaller cities and country districts have increased greatly.

The decrease in New York City since May 1 amounted to $222,000,000. In Boston it was $58,000,000, and in Philadelphia $13,000,000. San Francisco reported a gain of more than $50,000,000; Kansas, $21,000,000; Cleveland, $18,000,000; Omaha, $14,000,000; Houston, $12,000,000, and Chicago more than $7,000,000, while gains of more than $2,000,000 were made also in Indianapolis, Columbus, Denver, Los Angeles, Milwaukee, Cincinnati, Richmond, Wichita, St. Joseph, Baltimore, Dallas, San Antonio, Detroit, Seattle, Lincoln, Atlanta, Washington and Oklahoma City. Increases in country deposits are shown in the case of each of ten states from which returns are complete. Ohio leads this list with country banks showing a deposit increase of $28,000,000.

Comptroller Williams declared that the increased accumulation of funds and banking credits throughout the country, and especially in the country banks, is significant and is imparting a business confidence and a degree of security, stability and optimism throughout the length and breadth of the United States which has rarely been experienced in any country.

THE HAGUE, Netherlands, Oct. 11.—(Via London, 8:15 p. m.)—The Dutch government, it is learned on the basis of facts already ascertained, will immediately ask Germany to explain the sinking of the Dutch steamer Bloembergen in the Atlantic ocean off the New England coast last Sunday.

BASEBALL STRIKES LITTLE GIRL IN FACE; ASKS $50,000

OAKLAND, Oct. 11.—Alice Butler, guardian for 10-year-old Beatrice Silva, filed suit today for $10,000 damages against the Pacific Coast baseball league because of injuries sustained by the little girl on April 23, when she was struck by a batted ball which the complainant alleges broke her nose and blackened her eye. The ball fell in the reserved seat section. "The accident occurred during a game between the Oakland and Vernon teams. The complaint recites that one of the players, who carelessly, negligently and unnecessarily hit and struck one of the baseballs with his bat."

SEEK TO RESCUE SOLDIERS JAILED FOR BOOTLEGGING

CALGARY, Alberta, Oct. 11.—A crowd of soldiers made a raid upon the mounted police barracks here tonight with an announced intention of rescuing five men, members of a local battalion, who had been fined for violation of the liquor act, and who, in default of payment, had been locked up. The rescue was not effected and at the earliest representations of the officers the mob finally dispersed and went back to camp. One soldier tried to force his way into the guard room, and was shot through the right shoulder by a mounted policeman, who was believed to have fired the shot, was chased through the streets but escaped.

MORE REPORTS OF CIVIL FOMENTATION IN NORTH MEXICO

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., Oct. 11.—That the legislative forces are planning a united effort to overthrow the Carranza government in the state of Chihuahua within the next few days was indicated by information received here today in military circles. The program is said to contemplate the taking of Juarez and attacks on Carranzanist garrisons at other points. Villa has in the movement is not known.

STRANGE MALADY WIDELY FATAL IN NORTHERN MEXICO

DOUGLAS, Ariz., Oct. 11.—An epidemic resembling malaria attended by a high mortality rate is reported here to be prevalent in Northwestern Sonora. There have been several deaths in the vicinity of Equedra. The disease is said to have reached El Tigre and Nogales and is prevalent in Cuppas and Muctezuma.

FRANCE REFUSES TO CHANGE POLICY ON MAIL SEIZURE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 11.—The reply of the French government to the protest of the United States against interference with the mails has reached Washington and probably soon will be laid before the state department. It is believed that although expressing willingness to do everything possible to minimize annoyance and delay caused by examination of the mails, the Allied Powers are by no means willing to admit the lack of legal right on their part to continue such examination in order to make any change in the principle.

SEVEN TO ADVISE COUNCIL FOR DEFENSE OF NATION

President Wilson Names Willard and Gompers to Board

IS NON-PARTISAN

Will Seek to Bring Industry to Highest State of Efficiency

ON BOARD PRESIDENT WILSON'S SPECIAL, HARRISBURG, Pa., Oct. 11.—President Wilson, enroute to Indianapolis tonight, announced the appointment of members of the advisory commission to be associated with the Council of National Defense, created by Congress at the last session. At the same time he issued a statement saying he hoped the council will "become a rallying point for civic bodies working for the national defense."

The seven members of the new advisory commission named by the President tonight are: Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore and Ohio railroad; Samuel Chase, president of the American Federation of Labor; Dr. Franklin H. Martin of Chicago; Howard E. Coffin of Detroit; Bernard Baruch of New York; Dr. Hollis Godfrey of Philadelphia, and Julius Rosenberg of Chicago.

"The Council of National Defense has been created because the Congress has realized that the country is best prepared for war when thoroughly prepared for peace. From an economic point of view there is not very little difference between the machinery required for peacetime efficiency and that required for military purposes. In both cases the whole industrial mechanism must be organized in the most effective way. Upon this conception of the national warfare, the council is organized in the words of the act. For the creation of relations which will render possible in time of need the immediate concentration and utilization of the resources of the nation."

The organization of the council likewise opens up a new and direct channel of communication and cooperation between business and scientific men and all departments of the government and it is hoped that it will, in addition, become a rallying point for civic bodies working for the national defense.

Council's Functions

"The council's chief functions are: (1)—The co-ordination of all forms of transportation, and the development of means of transportation, and the military, industrial and commercial needs of the nation.

(2)—The extension of the industrial mobilization work of the committee on industrial preparedness of the naval construction board. Complete information as to the present manufacturing and production facilities, adaptable to many-sided uses of modern warfare will be provided, analyzed and made use of.

"One of the objects of the council will be to inform American manufacturers as to the part they can and must play in national defense. It is expected to maintain auxiliary organization composed of men capable of mobilizing to the utmost the resources of the country."

"The personnel of the council's advisory members, appointed without regard to party, marks the entrance of the present manufacturing and production into American governmental affairs on a wider scale than ever before. It is responsive to the increased demand for need of business organization in public matters and for the presence thereof of the best specialists in their respective fields. It is expected to instance the time of some members of the board could not be purchased. They serve the government without remuneration, efficiency being their sole object and Americanism their only motive."

MRS. L. R. HUGHSON WINS BIG ESTATE

Contestant Has Attempted to Disgrace Eighteen Children

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 11.—Mrs. L. R. Hughson of Modesto was awarded by the Supreme Court today to be the lawful widow of the late Hiram Hughson, and as such is entitled to his estate, valued at more than half a million dollars. Mrs. Hughson's right to the estate was contested by Mrs. Julia B. Hingham of Newburgh, N. Y., in 1860. Hughson sailed for California a year later, and after the lapse of another year Mrs. Hughson learned that her husband met his death in a shipwreck. She re-married in 1864. In 1872, her second husband, J. L. Manning, died.

In 1875, Mrs. Manning became the wife of Frank Hingham of New York state. Twenty-seven years ago the family moved to San Diego, and in 1914 they learned that Hughson had not met his death, but had married Julia Luella Avey in Stockton in 1864, had reared a family of ten children and died, leaving a large estate. The Hinghams agreed to have their marriage annulled, which was done in 1915, and Mrs. Hingham brought action to establish her claim to Hughson's fortune. Later she remarried Hingham.

The decision of the Supreme Court, which was written by Justice Henry C. Melvin, was prefaced with the words: "Here follows a very remarkable story."

Mrs. Hughson, now over 70 years old, bore Manning and Hingham, eight children, four of whom are living.

WOMAN IS KILLED WHEN POLICE FIRE ON MOB

Is Innocent Spectator of Strike Disorder at Bayonne

MORE MAY DIE

Street Barricade Used to Prevent Fire Fighting

BAYONNE, N. J., Oct. 11.—A woman was killed, two men probably mortally wounded, and a half dozen other persons less seriously hurt when the police fired a volley into a crowd of Standard Oil strikers and their sympathizers who were demolishing a fire engine tonight. The engine had responded to an alarm and had been held up by a barricade thrown across the street by the strikers.

The woman killed was Miss Sophia Torack, 20 years old. She was struck in the head by a bullet and died at the Bayonne hospital soon after she was taken there. Two men, one a striker, are in critical condition with several bullet wounds in their bodies. Two other men are in the hospital with less serious wounds. Several others were shot, according to the police, and taken away by friends. None of the policemen or firemen was injured.

Fewer than fifty policemen fought with a crowd of several hundred strikers. Both sides fired repeatedly. Miss Torack, who was killed, was watching the fight from a window of her home, a few yards away. The harem, responding to an alarm, were leered and rushing toward the scene as they advanced. The crowd which followed them soon became menacing and surrounded the apparatus. Then a concerted attack was made on the engine which was quickly wrecked. The battle, which followed the arrival of the patrolmen who opened fire on the mob, was sharply contested. The concerted attack finally won, however, and the mob was dispersed.

The riot was the culmination of a series of disorders during the day, the most serious of which was an attempt by a mob of others to release from their cells in the city hall two of their number who had been arrested for carrying concealed weapons.

SHOW FEELING AGAINST DRYS

Prohibition Candidates Find Much Opposition in Missouri

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 11.—Defiant opposition to the arguments of the Prohibition national campaigners developed today in eastern Missouri. At Hermann, a wine center, and Washington, both wet towns, Ira Landrith, the vice presidential candidate, was interrupted both by individuals and groups of angry wets. Seemingly almost every man in a crowd of several hundred at Hermann shouted "No" when Landrith asked a group of school children to raise their hands if they wanted a dry state. The children voted "Aye" almost unanimously. Later, from different parts of the crowd, individuals shouted remarks at the speaker.

"What are you going to do for revenue?" shouted an insistent questioner at Washington. "Raise more hops than hell, and you want to see more revenue," Landrith replied. "When this nation goes dry we'll have more markets for other things that will produce revenue, too. The old soak who's been feeding his wife cracklings and shorts will feed his bread and butter. The amount he will save in the cost of conducting jails, insane asylums and similar institutions will go a long way toward reducing the amount of revenue required."

Frank Hanly, the presidential nominee to escape interrogation. He took up Landrith's economic argument, however, insisting that the nation could be made dry at a profit.

Mother's Face Rivals in Youth and Beauty That of Daughter

Can you be sure, without positive identification, that the photograph on the left is a likeness of Mrs. J. Borden Harriman, while that on the right is a picture of Miss Ethel Harriman, a Newport debutante of the past season and certain to be a belle of the coming Washington season? Mrs. Harriman's spirit is as sprightly as her face, but the maturity of her brain is attested by her appointment several years ago as the only woman member of the industrial relations committee.

carried the light to nine Western cities.

"Equal suffrage in the West spells the doom of liquor, there and everywhere," he said. "In the dry South suffrage has been a popular issue for years and soon, with the civic, mental and moral training of fifty years behind the enfranchisement of the negro, the South will consent to double by woman suffrage the voting strength of the negro race.

"It is beyond my ken, however, as the admirer of consistency, why states in the far North that gave the ballot to the negro just emerging from slavery, can, a full half century later, deny the ballot to their wives and daughters."

BRITISH BRAND HEARST SERVICE

News From London Hereafter Is to Be Known As "Faked"

LONDON, Oct. 11.—The morning newspapers publish in conspicuous places the official order denying to the International News Service further use of the official press bureau and the use of cables and other facilities for transmission of news because of its "garbling of messages and breach of faith." The order appears under such headings as "No British News for Hearst," "News Made in America," and "American Agencies' Garbling of Messages." The Daily Express says by way of comment:

"The Daily Express repeatedly has called attention to anti-British lies printed in American newspapers controlled by William B. Hearst—the New York American, the Chicago Examiner and similar journals. This 'news' is supplied by the International News Service, which is entirely a Hearst organization. These papers will not have a line of British news today. This action follows repeated breaches of faith by the Hearst organization. One of the latest instances was a message in the Chicago Examiner, headed 'London in flames' and purporting to describe a Zeppelin raid. It was never sent from London."

Dealing With Liars

In an extended editorial, the Times says:

"The disciplinary measure taken against the International News Service is a satisfactory sign that the government appreciates the importance of dealing drastically with lying news agencies. The time of Mr. Hearst's newspapers is strongly anti-British, but the action of the government has not been inspired by any resentment at their opinion. It is a consequence of deliberate falsification of intelligence, of which the International News Service has been repeatedly found guilty."

"While we rejoice that our government has inflicted proper punishment upon an unscrupulous news agency, we trust that the measures taken will not be regarded by the people of this country as involving a slur upon the character and courage of the United States press as a whole. The reputation of the great majority of American journals for fairness and honesty stands above reproach and it has again and again been vindicated during the war. We imagine, indeed, that the American press and public will be grateful to the British authorities for having punished wrong doers and especially for having made public the grounds for the action taken. The dissemination of accurate news is at all times a matter of high importance. We trust our authorities will extend their laudable energy in other directions also and visit with similar punishment any other news agencies or journals which may be convicted of publishing garbled intelligence from this country."

Action Not Biased

The Chronicle says:

"The government has taken a well justified step in depriving the International News Service of all telegraphic and mail facilities. The reason is not that Mr. Hearst's papers are pro-German, but that they have repeatedly published as coming from this country news which did not in fact come from it."

"These sham messages have been printed as messages from London. It is obvious that such sham news is of less than no value, since the American public would be given the impression that our censors had passed statements which in fact had never been seen."

The Westminster Gazette says the government "acted rightly in refusing further facilities for transmission of news from this country by the International News Service," and after recounting the charges against the agency, concludes:

"Readers of Hearst papers will know in the future the telegrams purporting to come from England have no origin there. We are heartily glad the government has inflicted proper punishment for a very unscrupulous piece of work."

The Globe says the action of the Home secretary will "be applauded by all honest people."

Inasmuch as the New York American, the San Francisco Examiner and the Los Angeles Examiner are members of the Associated Press, the statement that the Hearst papers will not have a line of English news does not apply as to those three papers.

are 323 boys, all of whom have won prizes. There also are 19 prize winners in previous contests.

In addition to the exchange of views there will be draft horse judging, testing cows for tuberculosis and other demonstrations of processes to eradicate disease from cattle.

After the convention the delegates are to be taken in a special train to Berkeley where they also will be the guests of the University of California for all of next Saturday. On Sunday the winners of an eastern trip will start on their month's journey across the continent and return.

gators. The "corner" is the turning point in the North Atlantic where traffic between the United Kingdom and the United States heads up for the English channel or shapes a way for various ports on the American seaboard. From New York to the "corner" is a distance of about 1600 miles and from the "corner" to Iceland and the north coast of Scotland is a distance of about 2400 miles.

In heading for the "corner" the "L-53" would be reaching along towards her base and would be in a position to strike a blow at merchant ships, it was pointed out.

CHURCH TALKS OF MERCHANT MARINE

Says American Shipping
Greatly Increased by President

The American merchant marine and its upbuilding under the Wilson administration was the subject of speeches made yesterday by Denver S. Church, incumbent congressional candidate in the Seventh district, at crowded meetings in Crowe Landing, Patterson, Liverbank and Oakdale.

That the net tonnage of American ships engaged in foreign trade during the year ending July 31, 1914, was but 7.43 of all the ships engaged in that business at that time, and that since then the net tonnage of the American ships has been increased to 11.89, was the claim advanced by Church.

The Democratic nominee spoke at Crowe Landing during the forenoon. At Patterson, several hours later, and at Liverbank a large delegation of railroad workers listened to the congressman. Church spoke in the Star Theater at Oakdale, a crowd packing the place to the doors. He said in part:

"From what has already been said, it is obvious that this administration has done much to develop the legitimate industry of this country, but when we take into consideration the wonderful natural resources of the United States we cannot fail to see the importance of

FIRE WHISTLE IS BROKEN; REPAIRS MAY NOT BE MADE

Fresno's fire alarm whistle is broken for several days, perhaps for all time, the familiar blast that apprised both the firemen and spectators of the location of the fire, will not be heard.

Yesterday it was found that some part of the electrical timing mechanism was useless. A new part may be ordered, but it will not be ordered, according to the ruling of Fire Chief Wintemute. In the meantime but one blast will be blown in case of fire.

opening up the ports of the world as a market for our products and goods. This had been sadly neglected during the war, and it is, by the two great oceans of the world, with half a dozen transcontinental railroads ever ready to bear our products to the sea, it is imperative that our trade interest should be stimulated with countries on the other side of the great water. You will be surprised when I call your attention to the fact that during the year ending July 31, 1914, there were 3255 vessels engaged in the foreign trade of the United States, and but 452 of these were vessels bearing the American flag, and of the remainder England alone had 1232. In other words, the net tonnage of the American ships engaged in the foreign trade of the United States during the year in question amounted to but 7.43 of the net tonnage of all the ships engaged in that business. I am pleased to state that this administration through the foreign and adequate laws passed by the Wilson administration, has been increased to 11.89 American ships engaged in our foreign trade during the

MILITARY TRAINING FOR BOYS OPPOSED

Mrs. T. F. Lopez Says
Schools Should Prepare for Peace

Claiming that the proposed plan of military training in the high school would be injurious to the health of the high school boys, and that the duty of the schools was rather to prepare for peace than for war, was the substance of a talk by Mrs. Thomas F. Lopez, president of the Civic League of this city, who spoke before the Portia of the high school yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. Lopez pointed out that even in Germany the boys of high school age were not regarded as capable of standing the severe physical strain of military drill. Militarism in general was strongly condemned by the speaker.

"The Portia will debate at their meeting next Wednesday afternoon on the topic, 'Resolved, that a literacy test should be given to all foreigners before being taken into the United States.'"

year ending July 31, 1915, and that the net tonnage of the American ships engaged in the foreign trade of the United States during the year in question amounted to but 7.43 of the net tonnage of all the ships engaged in that business. I am pleased to state that this administration through the foreign and adequate laws passed by the Wilson administration, has been increased to 11.89 American ships engaged in our foreign trade during the

BERNHARDT ON SHIP IN DANGER ZONE

Lena Cavalieri Also Escapes Danger of Submarine Attack

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—The French liner Espagnole came into port today with an exciting story of her experience Sunday night and Monday when lifeboats were swung out and all precautions taken for an encounter with the German submarine U-55.

The course of the Espagnole Sunday by wireless that the German raider was at work in nearby waters. Only the officers of the ship were aware of the danger though the precautionary measures soon gave the passengers an inkling of the facts. The course of the Espagnole was changed sharply to the southwest, lengthening her voyage twelve to fifteen hours. The defensive gun mounted on the upper deck was cleared for action.

Passengers and crew were calm during the preparations and there was the usual gaiety aboard, though some of the women passengers kept their windows covered by their hands. Madame Sarah Bernhardt, Lina Cavalieri and the other distinguished artists aboard heard and discussed the reports but showed no evidence of anxiety.

Fuller, and Manuel Viera. The company is capitalized at $500,000 and owns magnetic claims in Santa Clara and Stanislaus counties.

The dispatch says the order refers to all those who previously have been declared unfit for military service.

EPISCOPALS ELECT MANN AND GAILOR

SHIP CAPTAINS STILL FEARFUL

Atlantic Trade in State of Analysis Because of Raid

BOSTON, Oct. 10.—Shipping agents here who have been holding their vessels in port on account of German submarine activities off the New England coast, received another alarm today when a tugboat captain reported that he saw something resembling a U-boat between Boston Light and Minot's light early this morning.

The object was so distant and the light so poor that the captain was unable to say positively that he had sighted a submarine and the steamboat inspectors to whom he made his report were inclined to the opinion that the failure of other incoming boats to note the presence of any stranger in these waters cast doubt on the accuracy of his observation. The point where the tugboat captain saw the supposed U-boat is well within the three-mile limit.

The tie-up of shipping bound from this port to Europe is still noticeable tonight. The steamer Kansas, American owned, which was held up by the submarine early Sunday morning, was cleared tonight for Genoa, Italy, with a shipment of horses said to be consigned to the Italian government, but she was still in the harbor tonight.

The British steamer Epsom, which has been ready to sail since daybreak Monday, was still off the quarantine station tonight. The Lord Cromer, another Britisher with a shipment of horses, wheat, and general merchandise for Liverpool, was loaded and ready to proceed at daylight tomorrow. The steamer Marengo, British registry, scheduled to sail for Hull, England, via New York, probably will leave for New York tomorrow.

The sailing tonight of the steamer Prince Arthur of British registry, which plies regularly between this port and Yarmouth, was canceled and the 500 passengers who were booked for the trip were transferred to the American ship, the Prince Arthur, which sailed in the Prince Arthur's place.

Friends of the 1,200 passengers on board the White Star line Canopic, due here Thursday night, of Friday morning, are anxiously awaiting her arrival. While nothing has been heard from the Canopic, it is supposed that the steamer probably has been warned of the submarine raid and has changed her course for fear of detection. The passengers are said to be mostly women and children and it is believed that there are not more than ten Americans on board.

TALKS ON THRIFT

The Turkey That Would Build a House

There is a Negro story of a turkey who, every time it snowed, drew his feathers about him firmly resolved to build him a house. But before he could decide where to build, or what kind of a house, the sun came out and he shook out his feathers, strut around and said to himself: "Nobody wants to be in a house on a day like this," and the result was he froze to death one winter night.

There are a lot of people in the same frame of mind as the turkey. When things are going wrong, work is slack, times are hard, sickness or accident comes, and their money is gone, they firmly resolve that in the future they will take care of their money and look out for the rainy day; but when a house is going wrong, but as soon as things right themselves, they forget their good resolution and the next time of need find them as ill prepared as ever.

Most of us are merely grown up children. We want what we want when we want it. We live at our ease. The boy will gorge himself with green apples in June and forget that there is a physical law against eating green apples. Tomorrow we will find it out, and may resolve not to eat green apples again; but a good resolution never gets a man anywhere unless he keeps it. Many a New Year's promise is made only to be broken and pledges are signed only to be forgotten. How many a man has resolved to stop drinking when circumstances have brought him in court? He should have stopped before.

Thousands of men have firmly resolved that they would start a savings bank account, made a deposit or two, and then quit. An examination of the books of any savings bank will show a large number of accounts with but one deposit. It is a sad evidence of a good resolution broken. A certain evidence of a good resolution broken. A certain father with two children had them insured in an industrial insurance company. He concluded that he could not find the money he was paying for insurance some other way

ECZEMA ITCHED AND BURNED CONSTANTLY

Used Resinol—Soon Entirely Cured

Mar. 10.—"I had itching eczema for almost four years. My shoulders, neck, arms and just below the knees were affected. It was simply a constant itching, burning, smarting sensation. The part below my knees was frightful. It would itch so, and with the least scratching become so sore I could hardly stand it to bend them. I could not possibly sit down because I would naturally have to bend my knees and that I could not do. I could hardly do my housework. I had tried different soaps, ointments, salves, liniments, etc., all to no purpose to mention—all to no avail. At last I learned of Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap and used them according to directions. That night was the first time in many that I slept in peace, and in a short time I was entirely cured." ## Parlor Car Comfort

Just as much as the car owner demands Jeffery power and safety, he desires Jeffery comfort. The vibrationless motor, inherently balanced crankshaft are material forces in giving him his desire.

Factors as important are the springs of the Jeffery—extra strong, extra long, soft in action, easy riding and flat under load. Those in front are semi-elliptic, those in the rear 3-4 elliptic and underslung. They alone are sufficient to insure surpassing driving-comfort and repose, and to them is added the divan-type upholstery—real leather and real hair—body fitting, luxurious, deep.

CRITICISM PROPER

One of the commonest Democratic complaints is that political speakers are "knocking" or denouncing President Wilson. It is always assumed and sometimes asserted that "knocking" is a wrong in itself and that to have pointed out that some one has "denounced" President Wilson is thereby to convict that person of a wrong, irrespective of whether the denouncing was truthfully or untruthfully done.

That criticism of a President should be honestly done goes without saying; that it ought to be done in good taste may follow also, though the experience of politics is that good taste is not always a final standard of effective argument, as it certainly is not a necessary standard of truth. Either truth or falsity may be expressed in either good or bad taste. The tasteful and the truthful are independent of each other. But that there is anything inherently wrong or inappropriate in criticizing or, if justified, in denouncing a President can certainly not be maintained or seriously believed by anyone who believes in the American standard of government by discussion and criticism. President Wilson is not merely President, but is also a candidate for office. Both as President and as a candidate, he is now presenting himself to the judgment of the American people. Any important portion of the American people whose judgment of the President is not favorable has not merely the right but the duty of expressing through its recognized leaders or spokesmen that disapproval. If that disapproval is based on the belief that President Wilson has been bungling, vacillating, timid, or ineffective in any of his public courses, it is not merely the right but the duty of those who hold these opinions to express them in the plainest sort of language. If Presidents and presidential candidates are to be exempt from criticism, then they ought also to be exempt from election. The only way a whole people can reach a decision upon a candidate for office is by precisely this process of public discussion and criticism. The criticism should be made by those who believe them to be true and stand ready to maintain that belief. But the remedy for those who hold the contrary belief is to disprove the statements and refute the arguments, not to complain that the statements it made would be "knocking" or denunciation. "Knocking," by the ethics of business is wrong not because it ought not to be done, but because a business competitor is not the proper person to do it, and a business transaction is not the proper occasion for doing it. But if a business man or institution is conducting itself improperly it ought to be "knocking" and denounced. The only validity of the "boost, don't knock" principle is that the "knocking" or denouncing ought to be done by some one else than a business competitor and for some other motive than getting trade. Applied to commercial affairs these rules are proper; applied to political matters they must be reversed. "Knocking" in politics is objectionable if it is false or dishonest; "knocking" in politics is not to be objected to merely because it is "knocking."

WHAT WAR?

The one most effective slogan of the Wilson campaign is unquestionably, "He kept us out of war." But when we inquire what war, the question becomes difficult to answer. What nation desired or desires war with us? What nation was likely to have attacked us? What nation would have used force to defend its wrongs against us if we had sternly insisted on its doing right? What war, after all, threatened us that we were kept out of? Who had any war, and from what has President Wilson protected us?

Unless it is Mexico, there was no risk of war anywhere. The very experience with Germany demonstrated that when we finally insisted on our rights we got them without fighting. The criticism in the case of Germany is not that we failed to get our rights, but that we were a year getting them when insistence on the policy of "strict accountability" would have got them in the beginning. And certainly England would not have made war upon us in order to protect its right to do wrong. We have kept out of war with England by allowing England continuously to trample on our rights. We could have much better kept out of war with England by insisting on England's respecting our rights. Instead, we have been on the verge of war with Germany, we have maintained an ignominious peace with England where a dignified and noble peace could have been as easily maintained and we have not kept out of war with Mexico at all.

At least three times we have proclaimed that we would not intervene in Mexico. At least twice we have nevertheless intervened. Times without number we have proclaimed that we would keep out of war with Mexico. Twice we have nevertheless gone into war with Mexico, and we are in an actual state at this moment of war, if not with Mexico, at least in Mexico. Four or five several times we have delivered demands upon Mexico, which amounted in practical effect to ultimatum, and each time Mexico refused to do the thing we demanded and we refrained from doing the thing which we threatened. We have not merely kept out of war with Mexico, but we have brought much nearer and more certain the condition which makes ultimate war with Mexico probable. We have kept out of the war in Europe by the perfectly simple expedient of not going into it and by the laudable device of not maintaining or of tardily maintaining our rights with respect to it. And, by keeping out in this fashion, instead of in the way we should have done it, we have rendered it more likely that we shall keep out effective participation in the determination of the terms of the world peace which must inevitably follow the world war.

That we should have kept out of war is indeed desirable. But the answer to the phrase is that we have not kept out of war, and that we have instead made more likely an ultimate situation that will thrust us either disastrously into war or ignominiously out of the co-operations of peace.

WELL FIXED

The report of the state controller on the values of property and indebtedness of the various counties, as outlined in another column, shows very vividly the high place which Fresno holds among the counties of the state. Fresno has no funded debt and no floating debt, and its tax rate is among the lowest in the state. Only six counties have a lower "outside" rate, and only four a lower inside rate. Fresno is therefore a county of no liabilities and of relatively low fixed charges for expenses. On the asset side, Fresno stands third in the number of acres of land, sixth in the value of real estate, and fourth in the total value of all property. The only counties surpassing us in value are the three metropolitan counties of San Francisco, Los Angeles and Alameda. Only twenty counties share with us the distinction of having no debt, and most of these are the smaller and poorer counties. Very few can show anything like our prosperous statistical situation. If Fresno wishes to bond itself, certainly it can come as near affording a bond issue as any county in California. A county, like an individual, should not borrow money merely because its credit is good and its security sound. But if the purpose of borrowing the money is otherwise desirable, the incidental fact that we can afford it is decidedly an additional inducement.

GIVING IT TONE

A brother of Lord Northcliffe has been appointed chief of the division of garments of the British army. The industry being national and military, it is a proper one for a gentleman to have charge of. But among the results of the war may be that gentlemen who have performed labor or engaged in business for war purposes may discover after the war that these things are also respectable in time of peace. We have been trying to make politics respectable in America by putting business men into politics. After the experiences of this war, England may conclude to make business respectable by putting politicians into business.

VERY NEUTRAL

Respect for the sacred sovereignty of small nations continues unabated, as witness the ultimatum yesterday served on Greece, demanding that Greece hand over forthwith its entire navy to the Allied-Powers. Greece up to the present time, is a neutral and at peace, and manifests both these qualities quite as ideally as some of the belligerents have urged that the United States should do. According to belligerent ethics, a neutral is one who takes the side of the belligerent in question.

Francis J. Heney is reported as having said in New York that California was safe for Wilson. Heney will have another guess coming when the returns are counted in November. In his case, the wish is father to the thought.

ACADEMIC FREEDOM

Interest in This Puzzling Educational Problem is Renewed as Colleges and Universities Begin a New Year
By Frank Andrews Fall, Litt.D.
Bursar of New York University
(Copyright, 1916, by The National Editorial Service, Inc.)

Freedom of speech in American colleges and universities, a topic among educators for several seasons, has been brought to the front again at the beginning of a new academic year. At the recent meeting of the American Association of university professors, three cases of dismissal were considered. In one case the contention of the professor that he was sacrificed because of his opinions on public questions, expressed outside of the university, was upheld by the association. While the problem is by no means settled, and some educators believe that very little new light has been shed upon it by this latest investigation, one thing stands out clearly enough—the governing boards of the universities have no black list of professors who believe in free speech and act in accordance with their belief. This is evidenced by the fact that two of the men dismissed have held important teaching positions in other universities.

The trustees of one university, in dismissing a professor, maintained that his efforts were "continually misunderstood by the public and by many of his students," and that "his methods, language and temperament provoked continued and widespread criticism alike from parents of students and from the general public, who knew him only by his public utterances."

It is interesting to note that the committee is not satisfied that the professor "failed of reappointment because of criticism outside the university, arising at least in part from his extramural utterances—criticisms which the trustees not only refrain from expressly believing, but which they deem to be based upon misunderstanding."

Undoubtedly an important element in this case, and in others of the same kind, is the unfortunate disposition of the public to regard a college or university professor as completely and exclusively identified with the institution he serves, and from which he draws his pay. The public appears to deny to such a man any individuality, any independence of thought or action, any expression of himself as a plain citizen. No matter where or when he speaks, his words are treated as those of a professor, and of such-and-such college or university. It is difficult to see how this point of view benefits any of those concerned—professors, trustees or the public.

The main point at issue is, of course, whether moneyed interests actually do dictate, or attempt to dictate, what professors shall teach or what ideas they shall utter on public questions. That they do has been asserted often enough. It was not long ago that two thousand people in Carnegie Hall heard that "our colleges are subsidized by capital." The speaker, as dependent upon the pleasure of the rich. What men are awarded the highest university degrees? Are they men distinguished in scholarship? Men who have fought for reforms that have benefited mankind? No. They are men able to write their names in letters of gold over the college portals, or make bequests of Egyptian mummies."

The sweep of this statement, made by a man who is a national if not an international figure, helps to defeat its own purpose. It reminds one of General Butler's famous saying: "All generalizations are false." The statement is obviously made without complete familiarity with the premises. The conferring of an honorary degree upon a donor of money for buildings or endowment is an occasional occurrence, but it does not follow that such a privilege has our higher educational institutions by the throat, forcing upon them its own ideas and ideals.

The notable thing is not that three university teachers were dismissed after controversy with their governing boards concerning their utterances in an out-of-the-classroom. It is that something like twenty thousand other college and university teachers make their minds freely and are re-embowered by their respective boards, in many cases at increased salary.

Theoretically, there is only one ideal condition in a non-sectarian college or university, and that is out-and-out, unqualified freedom of speech. But there are generally matters of fact considerations that make the complete realization of this ideal impracticable. Some sort of compromise appears to be

DAMAGED GRAPES AND PROHIBITION

Editor Republican:—As most of my friends, who have a different view on the "Wet and Dry" proposition than what I have, are as a rule good Christian people; and as most of their arguments are from a moral point of view, I must so reason. Therefore take the liberty of concluding that they would not cause great financial loss to any person who is entirely innocent in this great public question.

If the people who have different views from mine on this subject had been sitting in this office the last few days, I cannot but believe that their ideas would change, or at least their method of achieving their object would be changed and modified.

A number of people who have been in town the last few days have expressed themselves as being thankful that they at least have the wineries, where they can sell their grapes that would have been made into raisins had the rain not spoiled them, which will enable them to pay interest on their mortgages; and they can go on living in hope for better success the coming year. Many a man has related to me that had it not been for the Association they would have lost their properties by foreclosure of mortgage; and I am surprised at the number of people who have made that same statement, that had it not been for their spoiled grapes—they would be in very serious trouble.

I believe I am conservative in stating that at least 25,000 tons of raisins, equivalent to 80,000 tons of fresh muscat grapes, have gone and will go to the wineries, and will bring to the growers in round figures a million dollars.

The wineries have also been called upon to handle thousands of tons of Tokay and other varieties of shipping grapes that the rain has spoiled to such an extent that they could not be shipped to the fresh fruit markets. The rain has been general throughout the state, and has affected all of the raisin districts.

The California Wine Association is not only taking care of the San Joaquin Valley grape growers, buying their Muscat grapes, as I understand, at $12.50 per ton; but they have bought all of the damaged raisins in Mendocino and El Cajon, in San Diego county, and if the weather does not clear, I am informed they will have to take 15,000 to 20,000 tons of additional grapes in the Lodi district.

I have always contended that the prosperity of the three branches of viticulture in California are closely interwoven, and the destruction of the wineries would cripple all three branches; that is, the raisin, table and wine grape industries, and it appears to me that the situation now existing should prove to the voters of California that the success of the viticultural interests of this state, in all its branches, is more or less, dependent on the wineries.

JAMES MADISON.

Uncured Increment

Is Not Near Equal To Interest Possibilities

San Francisco, Oct. 10.—The "uncured increment" creed of the Budget-Taxers is pointed out as a fallacious claim by the Anti-Single Tax Association of California.

The special valuation committee has been co-operating with the San Francisco Tax committee and as a result unearthed some interesting facts regarding "uncured increment" and the practical business of owning property.

Of "uncured increment," the following was taken from the 1914 report of the committee of taxation of the city of New York:

"It may be said that Peter Minuit, the first director-general of the Dutch East India company, paid to the Indians in 1624, the sum of $25,000, or about $24 for the land on Manhattan Island. In 1913, the assessed value of this land was $3,155,356.410, but when we figure that this same $24 if put out at the prevailing rates of interest since 1624, would amount to $12,444,504.22 in round numbers, we conclude that the uncured increment or 'social value' was not so much after all."

A delightful tea was given at the home of Mrs. L. L. Corp., yesterday afternoon in honor of Miss Helen Todd, a prominent worker for the Woman's party.

Burning bush and pink roses were artistically arranged in the spacious drawing room, while the morning room was attractive in zinnias and greenery. In the dining room, where tea was served, snowflake daisies and greenery were effectively used. Miss Todd gave a very interesting and informal talk on suffrage and why women are trying to get it through the federal government instead of the state by state method. Miss Todd was most enthusiastically received by her hearers. About thirty guests called during the afternoon.

Another notable undertaking which Mrs. Chenoweth will attempt for her section will be to secure comfort stations along the highways in Kern county, both the state roads and the county roads. The city beautiful will be considered, and committees have been named in this department of the Woman's Club to carry out flower planting in city lots and along the highways. Federation day that followed was a comic one and consisted of Mesdames Evans, M. L. and M. A. in ancient attire and baggage representing the Exeter Club at the federation. The day in Japan was a most effective scene, with Mesdames Osterlander, Gill, Rowland, Fare, Burns and Thompson in costume, with Japanese settings of bamboo and peacock feathers against a bamboo screen. ## Gift Giving As An Art

In the course of several advertisements following, we expect to show how Gift Giving may be made an art, how the time-honored craft of Gold and Silver Wares and Precious Stones is still first and how our store is truly representative in Fresno. Why this store should be your store is our purpose.

Said a witty woman: "With presents it is as with husbands. We just have to wait until they come along and then pretend to be pleased with them."

Selection of presents need not be a strain on your patience or your purse.

It need not be if you read carefully the suggestions we will make.

Chiropractic Means Special Adjustments

The keystone of the entire anatomical structure is the spine.

Without an intimate acquaintance with the spine and that part of the nervous system confined therein, it is impossible for a physician to advise a patient intelligently; for the reason that the nerves proceeding out of the spine through the lateral foramina, control either directly or indirectly the function of every organ within the body.

The medical profession has failed to grasp the mechanical principles involved in the anatomical construction of the human organism, and drugs cannot correct mechanical defects.

They must be corrected by adjusting the spine so that there is no pressure on the nervous system.

That's what Chiropractic does.

95 Per Cent of the Ills Are Caused By Nerve Pressure

Chiropractic Adjustments Will Remove the Pressure

If you are suffering with poor health the chances are ten to one that there is a pressure on the nerves that can be removed by spinal adjustments.

As the spine is the nerve center consequently it is the source of all nervous trouble. Chiropractic is nothing more or less than properly adjusting the nerve center so that the nerves can perform their functions.

I have brought relief to many.

I can help you.

The DUO-ART The Newest Pianola

The DUO-ART is the very latest in player instruments—the latest achievement of the Aeolian Company, makers of the famous Pianola. It is truly a marvelous instrument—its capacity is three-fold:

First: It is a regular "straight" Piano—either a STEINWAY, WEBER, or STROUD—you play it by hand in the same manner as any other piano.

Second: It is a PIANOLA—however, you do not pedal or pump with your feet—the pneumatic system is driven by electricity. There is no physical effort upon your part—if desired, you can devote your attention to the interpretation devices, and play the selection according to your ideas of expression.

Third: It is an instrument which, without any effort or attention on your part, will play the world's music masterpieces. The playing of the great pianists (Bauer, Gabrilowitsch, Godowski, Saint-Saens, and scores of others) is recorded faithfully in Duo-Art music rolls—when placed in the Duo-Art Pianola, they reproduce automatically (not mechanically, but automatically) the original performance of the artist with absolute fidelity to the last detail of expression and technique. You are not seated at the instrument, but with your guests at the other end of the room, enjoying the wonderful music.

The instrument is indeed "Duo-Art"—to the Art of reproducing music is added the Art of the musician himself. We cordially invite you to come in and hear this latest marvel in the musical world.

Duo-Art Pianolas range in price from $775 up. Convenient terms of payment may be arranged and other pianos or player-pianos accepted in part exchange.

New Fund Is Thoroughly Explained by Manager; City Planning Commission Addressed by Chester H. Rowell; All Phases of Street Work Talked

VISALIA, Oct. 11.—Street improvements, together with the state compensation insurance fund, constituted the main subject taken up today by the League of California Municipalities in convention here. The departmental sessions which were held during the day, there being no main meeting of the league, devoted widely from one program, and many matters were discussed not programmed, while in some instances the Thursday program was gone into.

This morning the City Planning Commission opened its second annual conference, with Judge Wheeler of Los Angeles presiding. Chief interest in the session after the visitors had been welcomed the first thing this afternoon by Mayor Askin, was the excellent paper by Chester H. Rowell of Fresno, who discussed "Excess Compensation and Needed Legislation" for better city planning. Rowell took up the city planning work from its infancy, went back two or three centuries and discussed the work done in the olden times and went ahead with his views on what might be accomplished with the aid of practical legislation. His address was considered by the delegates present as the most thorough ever read at a meeting of the commission.

Wm. J. Locke, secretary of the League of California Municipalities, discussed the best methods of securing legislation by which a uniform set-back of houses from the street line could be accomplished, laying stress upon the beauty of a street where this is done, as in Berkeley and Alameda, his home city.

Motor Ride Enjoyed
Late this afternoon the planners enjoyed a motor ride through Visalia at the request of Mayor Askin, and many valuable suggestions were given. Visalians by the delegates as to better methods of parking streets, this being something always done by the delegates. Tomorrow the feature of the planning commission will be a round table luncheon at 12:30 in the Elks Club, this being an annual event.

The state compensation act was discussed in a general way at a joint meeting in the main auditorium of the city planning work by C. W. Fellows, manager of the fund, and by Attorney E. L. Bradley for the commission. This discussion took on the nature of a question and answer meeting, and as a result, many pointers were given and the new fund explained thoroughly.

In the course of his talk, Fellows declared that the small town hazard was considered by the commission greater than that of cities, which accounts for the fact that the commission has no explanation of the reason, but declared the facts tended to prove such the case.

In the street superintendents, councilmen and city engineers meeting in the morning, the subject of the main interest centering in a prospective ordinance to regulate heavy traffic on city streets to prevent breaking up of such streets. Discussion took place of the work of the southern California municipalities which have now passed an ordinance along these lines, and a committee was named consisting of Messrs. Polk, Tanton and Brock to draft such an ordinance. Belief is that it will regulate street traffic to trucks with no more than two feet overhanging on wheel trailers, while trailers will not be allowed to carry over 2-1/2 tons.

The city engineers met, but the absence of John C. Davis resulted in cancellation of the subject of the city attorney vs. the city manager, while the subject of paving state highways through the city was also abandoned for the day. A general discussion on the subject was enjoyed, however, while the attorneys went into the Wednesday morning session by discussing assessment and collection of taxes by the county and new legislation needed by the city.

Five Meetings Held
The departmental sessions were held this morning. Meetings were held in various headquarters of the officials. The department of city engineers, council and street superintendents listened to three very interesting and instructive discussions on street lighting, city planning and improvement of city attorney's discussed generally finance problems and the building of the state highways through incorporated cities. At a third meeting the department of city clerks, auditors and assessors listened to finance problems with respect to annual budgets. The department of health took up the abatement of nuisances and cooperation between health officers and city social workers, while in a fifth city planning commission delegates in the first session of their affiliated convention held an executive committee meeting.

Interest in the department of engineers, councilmen and street superintendents and about the street lighting discussion led by R. H. Manahan, city electrician of Los Angeles, and the traffic problem. Mr. Manahan brought to the attention of the members of that department the lighting of the proper street system would reap vast benefit from the new system installed on Market street and urging every city government to take this step forward. In this connection he cited the steps taken by Visalia toward a new street lighting electric system praising Visalia and declaring in favor of the new type of electric lights. He said the newest electric lighting systems were not only of great value to the city in every way but were financially an asset, bringing in more than their cost from the start. He urged that the new state law permitting the formation of lighting districts be seriously considered by cities throughout the state.

Street Improvement Work.
Edward M. Lynch, city engineer of Glendale, discussed "The Necessity of Strict Inspection and Tests in Street Improvement Work" from the viewpoint of compelling paving companies to do the work properly and asserting that lack of inspection and tests might mean thousands of dollars thrown away in repairs which might have been avoided and he did not wish to imply that every street paving company deliberately sought to cheat the city asserting that errors were liable to occur and stating his belief that the better companies welcomed rigid inspection at all times. The other address before this department was that of J. P. Byrbee, Jr., city engineer of Palo Alto, who spoke on "The High Cost of Supplies to Municipalities," urging competitive bidding and the purchase of supplies in quantity.

The city attorneys took up legal phases of city government. J. P. Davis, city attorney of Burlingame not being present, D. J. Hall, city attorney of Richmond spoke on "Municipal County With City Money," in which he urged that no time be lost by cities in seeing that all county highway projects are continued through the city limits, failure to do so being a detriment to that city. Joel H. Smith, city attorney of Selma, had a paper on "Financing County Highways with City Money," but was not present and the matter went into open discussion thereafter on the best ways and means of reimbursing cities under article 13 of the constitution.

City Planning Discussed.
The opening session of the city planning commission meeting found many delegates in attendance with Judge Wheeler of Los Angeles presiding. The work of the morning was given over to executive discussion, while in the afternoon two important papers were read. Chester H. Rowell's paper dwelt upon legislative means to aid the work of the city beautification setting forth his views on the rights of municipalities to eminent domain, save trees and parks, and outlining a proposed state law that might be embodied in charters whereby city planning commissions would have ample authority to go ahead unhampered with their work. The assessors, clerks and auditors discussed legal subjects relative to

SOLE PARTY PLANK SUFFRAGE, SAYS MISS TODD

Woman's Party Speaker Tells of Stand in Present Election

Support Hughes Only for Stand on Federal Suffrage Amendment

Emphasizing throughout her talk that the one plank in the platform of the Woman's party was the passage of a federal amendment granting the ballot to all women in the United States, Miss Helen Todd, national figure in suffrage work, spoke to a fair sized audience of women and an almost equal number of interested men last night in the Unitarian Church auditorium.

Miss Todd told of the efforts made by woman suffrage workers in eastern states to secure the extension of suffrage to women in New York, New Jersey, Massachusetts and Pennsylvania and how the work of years—in the case of New York, 60 years—was put to naught by what the speaker termed the "vice vote and machine vote" of those states. Miss Todd told of how foreigners who were unable to read or write had to be escorted to the polls in order that they might be shown how to vote were the strongest opponents of suffrage for women, and that it was due to the foreign vote in New York that suffrage failed to carry. The act of the Pennsylvania legislature in killing the bill that would have extended the women's vote at the polls was also mentioned.

Two Roads to Suffrage.
Miss Todd pointed out that there were two roads to universal suffrage—one by the state-by-state method, and the other by means of a federal amendment—and that the state-by-state method had been tried and found ineffective. The women bent their efforts toward a federal amendment. The Susan B. Anthony amendment, which the speaker said, was first forwarded to Washington by the women of the north at the time the Fourteenth amendment was being considered in the bill that the Woman's party desired to see made law. This bill adds to the language of the Fourteenth amendment, making it read "without any regard to race, color, sex or previous condition of servitude." The struggles of suffrage workers to get this bill out of committee and before Congress have occupied years, said the speaker.

Women Interview President Wilson.
At the election of President Wilson the women believed that at last had come a man who would hearken to their cause, said Miss Todd.

Miss Todd told of the various delegations of women that appeared at different times before the President. The first time the President declared that it was not in his party platform, and therefore nothing could be done, said the speaker. At the second meeting, some months later, the delegation was told that only the state-by-state method met with the President's approval. Soon after the passage of the child labor bill another delegation of women was received by the President, at which time the President declared his opposition to the ground of a prejudice that universal suffrage would materially increase the colored vote.

Woman's Party Campaigns.
Because of the continued opposition of the Democratic party to the extension of suffrage to women, the Woman's party is out to campaign against such a party, declared Miss Todd. The speaker belittled the statement, "he has kept us out of war," by declaring, "if they will pass a federal amendment giving us the ballot we'll keep ourselves out of war." The speaker declared that a President who would shut the door to the enjoyment of the privileges of a democratic woman because of a prejudice was unwelcome to women's votes.

Miss Todd made it perfectly clear that the Woman's party was not supporting the Republican party as a party, but that its support of Hughes was entirely due to his endorsement of federal suffrage amendment. "We place no favorites," she declared. "If the Republicans and Hughes double-cross us we'll wipe them off the map four years from now. We are sick and tired of waiting for the ballot, and if the Republican nominee for President declares his support for universal suffrage the Woman's party will support him for that reason alone. We can't wait for the time when a Socialist or Prohibition President will be elected and gain the ballot then."

Notes called for by state law with special reference to improvement bond acts, one of the papers of special interest on another subject being "What a Budget Has Done for a Slushy 'Boss City,'" by E. B. Rogart, city clerk of Lindsay, Eugene County. Mr. Rogart set forth how Lindsay had expended the money secured, how the budget was figured out and how well it accomplished what was intended for it.

Dr. H. E. Pomeroy, county health officer here, gave a paper on "The Abatement of Nuisances," in which he discussed the health department in a paper after which the subject was made the topic for general discussion. Many interesting solutions were talked of, each city official who desired setting forth how his city had taken care of its health and dangerous rubbish piles and tenements.

Joint Session Held.
In the afternoon a joint session of the engineers, councilmen, street superintendents and department of health was held, while the delegates listened to a paper by M. M. O'Shaughnessy, city engineer of San Francisco, describing the best methods of disposing of city garbage. The San Francisco official set forth how his city and county had accomplished this tremendous task and he was in turn complimented by W. T. Knowlton, a leading city engineer of Los Angeles along lines very similar.

The night session was taken up entirely with a discussion of the new ideas in sewage disposal by City Engineer Orblin of Pasadena and T. D. Allen, commissioner of public works of that city. Illustrated views to the number of nearly a hundred were used and the lecture closed with questions and answers. The best sewage problems were freely discussed and explained.

Departmental meetings and committee reports will occupy the greater portion of the time tomorrow, and there are now said to be prospects of the convention completing its work by Friday noon and adjourning.

SAYS SOUTH AMERICA NEEDS MISSIONARIES

Latin Countries Against Religion, Declares
S. R. Inman

DES MOINES, Iowa, Oct. 10.—Evangelical missions have scarcely scratched the field of South America and Mexico, Samuel Ray Inman told delegates to the national convention of Disciples of Christ here tonight. Mr. Inman is secretary of continuation committee on the Panama congress, which arranged the framework for a systematic missionary movement in Mexico, Central and South America.

"In practically every one of the great cities of South America," said Inman, "you speak to men who are leaders in philanthropy and education about religion and they will say, 'What religion? That is the one thing about which other things for which we have no use. Religion has been the cause of our revolutions, religion has opposed our progress; on account of religion from fifty to eighty per cent of our people are unable to read or write. In the name of progress, deliver us from religion!'"

Mr. Inman said that in Buenos Ayres there is but one Evangelical church for every 125,000 of the population. In the streets of Assunition, capital of Paraguay, he asserted one encountered posters reading "down with religion."

Fourteen of the twenty-seven states are without a foreign missionary.

JUDGE DECLARES N. Y. BREEDS BAD MORALS

Can Hardly Blame Smugglers for Acts; Sentenced Nonetheless

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—In passing sentences today on Hans Elwald Thompson and Fred T. Hoffman, who were found guilty recently of conspiracy to smuggle jewelry into the United States, Judge Shepard of Florida, sitting on special assignment in the Federal district court here, said that if he were in New York for ten years he thought he might "almost be tempted to beat Uncle Sam himself."

This is no a phrase calculated to breed good morals, declared Judge Shepard. "The way a man is held up in New York City for tax-dollars and hotel charges, I can hardly blame him for trying to put one over on me in a while."

The jewelry prisoners attempted to smuggle into the country a value of $15,000. They were sentenced to serve thirteen months each in the Federal penitentiary at Atlanta, Ga.

Lillian Russell's Beauty Talks

YOUR EYES.

(Copyright, 1916, by Lillian Russell)
"Why does the fine skin over my eyes and my eyelids grow soft and inclined to wrinkle?"
This question is put to me often. I can only attribute that condition to neglect, refusing to rest the eyes sufficiently and neglecting to bathe them often enough.

The eyes, to do their natural function properly, require the greatest care. In the morning, in the afternoon, after exposure to sun and dust, or to the glare of the street, and at night, it is necessary to bathe the eyelids with tepid water, drying gently with a soft piece of linen. The eyelids should never be rubbed. After using the tepid water, a bath of cold water in which is stirred a little cologne is strengthening and salutary.

When the eyes are weak, and that condition can be discerned by their tendency to close in a strong light, the use of colored glasses is a proper precaution. Years ago green glasses were in use to screen the eyes but the disconcerting color which they impart to objects caused them to be superseded by the smoked or amber glasses. These glasses were worn for a time, but were dispensed with because they did not mitigate the blue rays which fall upon the retina in its natural intensity, and distressed the sight when directed toward white surfaces.

No one should keep his eyes directed to a fire or lamp, which may have a tendency towards, but at facing a window with a bright light, nor expose his eyes to sudden and violent transitions from light to darkness or the reverse.

Today the electric signs cause more faulty eyesight than possibly can be imagined. These wormy electric signs that run about high up in the air are menacing to the eyesight. It seems as though the sign manufacturers complied to ruin the eyesight of the American people. No other country in the world would take a chance of ruining the eyesight of its people in that manner.

America is the home of eyeglasses; at any rate, more glasses are worn here than in any other country.

The use of glasses is to be avoided if possible. The sight adults of being strengthened by eye exercises. Vision which is defective, or disposed to short-sightedness, may be recovered and his sphere extended by use. Whichever the constant employment of glasses is sure to contract the range more and more. This is evident in those who use a single eyeglass. In these cases the vision of the right eye, being the eye to which the single glass is applied, becomes more defective than that of the left.

The increase of short-sightedness at the present day is due to the joint influences of increased habits of reading in trains and facing light and the improper use of glasses.

We naturally know, on the other hand, that the occasional use of glasses by either young or old whose vision is defective (when properly fitted to the eyes) contributes to strengthen the sight by relieving the nerves from the strain of imperfect vision and by teaching the eyes what perfect vision is.

If at the first sensation of defective eyesight, and those sensations are obvious, such as discovering that a book must be held too close to the eyes, as in the case of short-sightedness, or finding a slight ring around each letter of every word, which denotes farsightedness, one would refrain from straining the eyes to read and would rest the eyes and bathe them often with tepid water, the sight would be restored.

For drives most persons to the oculist, and he sends them either to glasses than not. Send yourself the pleasure of reading, if possible, two days each week of your life, and I am sure your eyesight will be benefited if not perfected. When we realize what an immense part of our lives depend upon our sight, we should treat our eyes with the utmost consideration, and not use them as seeing machines only.

SCHOOLS WILL NOT BE CLOSED TODAY

Appropriate Exercises to Be Given in Honor of Columbus

"Proper exercises commemorating the day" is all the holiday the school kids of Fresno will have today, the anniversary of the landing of Christopher Columbus. The school law states that the day shall be observed in the schools, but does not go so far as to say that the pupils shall have a holiday. Sessions will be held as usual.

However, there will be ample honor paid to the memory of Columbus. Stories of his life and voyages, music and poetry hearing for the day will take the place of the regular studies at one time of the day. Principals were advised by Superintendent Starr yesterday to set aside time for fitting ceremonies.

REPUBLICAN USING PLAYER SCOREBOARD FOR WORLD'S SERIES

Today will usher in the fifth game of the big series for the baseball championship of the world, the Boston Red Sox meeting the Brooklyn Dodgers on Braves Field, Boston, with the game starting at 11 o'clock. Fresno fans are sure to be disappointed that 3000 miles away from the seat of war, they are offered an opportunity to witness the series under the auspices of the Fresno Republican on the big player scoreboard on the corner of the Republican building, Tulare and Van Ness.

The opening game of the series was played on the big scoreboard to the delight of 4000 fans, with another 4000 on hand Monday, while all of 5000 watched yesterday's fray and it was noted the biggest and best thing yet to be used in Fresno to show how the players acted in the big game in Boston.

These same conditions will be again carried out today.

But is this scoreboard the last thing in scoreboards. In realistic miniature every play in the big series will be shown on the board. All you have to do to see the world's series just as good as if you were right there is to reach the Republican building in time to pick out a good spot. You can watch the great games without cost.

A special wire direct from the seat of war to the platform under the supervision of an expert operator will bring in every play. There a corps of well-trained baseball men will start the board and everything that happens in the game will be shown on the scoreboard and then megaphoned to the crowd.

Remember the first details will commence to arrive at about 10:45 o'clock. Fresno time, and ten seconds after the umpires give the word to play the same the Player Scoreboard will be in operation chattering and showing every play exactly as it happens in Boston.

SAY TRADE OF WORLD HAS BEEN IMPERILED

French Papers Excited Over Germany's Ocean Activities

PARIS, Oct. 10.—Under the heads of "blackmail" and "defiance" the morning newspapers print in prominent position every scrap of news obtainable about the submarine campaign on the American coast, accompanied by plentiful comment.

The general sentiment of the press is that Germany is challenging the United States with a conviction that the challenge will not be taken up and that neutrals must see today that they acted unwise in not "nipping" the submarine warfare on commerce in the bud. The newspapers express the opinion that the submarine campaign off the American coast is the last touch to a situation which is becoming impossible owing to the sinking of Scandinavian and other neutral ships. They declare that neutrals must feel bound to act, as the navigation of the whole world is affected.

The Gauls say: "Germany is convinced that by extending the field of assassination to American waters she will bring about a peace movement in the United States. She imagines that American merchants and the big trusts, seeing their over-seas trade paralyzed will demand that Washington intervene for peace or force Great Britain to loosen the blockade. Berlin believes that with the elections approaching President Wilson will give way."

MASONIC GRAND LODGE SESSIONS OPEN IN S. F.

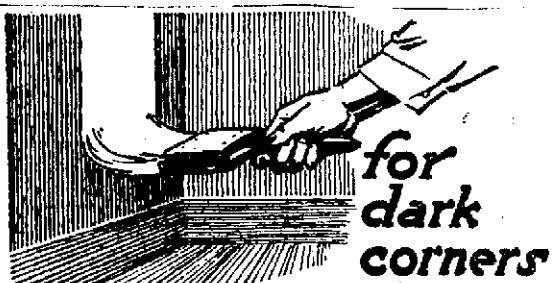

Fraternalism Only Answer to War, Says Grand Master

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 10.—Fraternalism is the only answer to the war problem, Grand Master Albert G. Burnett of Sacramento declared to his fellow Masons today at the opening session of the sixty-seventh annual communication of the California Masonic Grand Lodge, Free and Accepted Masons in the Masonic temple in San Francisco. The sessions will last four days.

"The principles we teach are the only principles which can save the world," Burnett said during his annual address. "Strife, contention, selfishness, and brutality are distracting the world—but out of this devastating and death will come a realization of the futility of violence. Fraternity will triumph over war."

Judge E. L. Fitzgerald, past grand master of Nevada; Professor A. M. Von Beck, who secured Nevada's first F. and A. M. charter in 1866, and Senator George C. Perkins, the oldest living grand master, were introduced at the afternoon session. Nevada was under the California Masonic jurisdiction in the early days.

A brilliant ball given in Grand Master Burnett's honor by the thirty-one local masonic lodges, took place tonight in the Exposition Auditorium.

PLANS FOR PARKING VENTURA AVENUE ARE APPROVED

Prof. J. W. Gregg Says Avenue Will Be Show Place of City

Suggests System of Boulevards and Parks to Surround City

The plans of Park Superintendent W. C. Claybaugh for the parking of the Ventura avenue strip were approved by Prof. J. W. Gregg of the University of California, who went over the proposed improvements with the park commissioners yesterday. It was at the suggestion of the park commissioners at their last meeting that Prof. Gregg, who is instructor of landscape gardening at the state university, advised with them in specifying the treatment of the new boulevard.

"The park commission looked well into the future when they recommended the plan followed out in parking Ventura avenue," said Prof. Gregg last night. "It is one of the finest boulevards in the state, and when completed will certainly be one of the show places of the city."

"The treatment as planned by Mr. Claybaugh, and with which I concurred in almost every particular, will make the avenue one that cannot be excelled. All of the shrubs used will be evergreen, selected for their color harmony. There will be some flowering shrubs, but there will be no glaring mixture of color.

"As I understand it, the avenue is now provided with parking spaces to the city limits, and I would like to see it continued to the fair grounds by the county officials, thus having the first unit, in what might later become a scenic drive about the city. The time to plan to beautify a city is before it completely built, not afterwards.

"The arrangement of a center parking space such as has been followed on Ventura avenue is ideal. With 20 feet in which to arrange the shrubs, the avenue may be converted into a boulevard both attractive and sturdy. A narrower space would hardly permit this.

"San Diego has begun a system of parks and boulevards that should be a lesson to Fresno and other cities. She has acquired four parks on the outskirts of her present city limits and connected them with a wide boulevard which furnishes a drive about the entire city.

"By using Ventura avenue as the starting point, Fresno might well begin such a system. By going to Recreation park, thence north to Belmont or some other downtown avenue, to a second park, thence to Reedling park and the city limits, and finally completing the circuit by a third park in the southwest part of the city, the Ventura parking plan could be followed and would afford Fresno one of the most beautiful and scenic systems in the state."

Prof. Gregg will leave this morning for Visalia, where he will attend the meeting of the League of California Municipalities. He will submit a written report to the park commission on his return.

Work on the planning of the strip will begin within the next few weeks, as soon as the shrubs arrive from the nurseries throughout the different parts of the United States.

DECLARE CONDITION NOT AS BAD AS DEPICTED

School Officials Say New H. S. Annex Will Remedy Inadequacies

Girls' Petition Presented to Principal; Board May Take Action

That general sanitary conditions of the high school are not as bad as might be inferred from the petition circulated during the past three days by the high school girls, and that the new high school annex will have additional sanitary facilities to remedy the present admitted inadequacy is the expression of opinion among school officials and members of the Board of Education. The petition to the executive officers of the school alleging the lack of decent conveniences was handed to Principal Frederick Lideke yesterday afternoon, and will be turned over to Superintendent C. C. Starr this morning. It is probable that the Board of Education will consider the petition at its regular meeting tomorrow night, and if so, Principal Lideke has expressed his willingness to testify as to conditions.

Lideke declared yesterday that an error in calculations had been made by the inspecting committee last week, and that the real conditions showed one toilet for every 42 students in the main high school building. Taking into consideration the fact that a large number of students use the Hawthorne annex, where the sanitary accommodations are adequate for a larger number of students than are using the building at present, Mr. Lideke points out that the proportion is still lower.

Regarding the placing of lockers on the floor of the dressing rooms, the principal said that an announcement had been made yesterday that the benches in the corridors might be used for that purpose.

Principal Lideke declares that for the past six years he has included an appropriation for steel lockers for the high school in his annual budget, but that each time his demand had not been brought to the attention of the board. "I have arranged for the installation of at least 200 lockers for the use of students who remain in the building over the noon hour," said the principal. Lideke believes that there is no neglect attaching to the board, but rather that the need of lockers at the high school was never seriously brought to their attention.

Principal Lideke and Superintendent C. C. Starr went over the building

Woman Violator of Liquor Law Given 40 Day Jail Term

Mrs. Antonio Partida was sentenced to serve forty days in the county jail by Judge Briggs yesterday, when she pleaded guilty to her third offense of conducting a blind pig. The arrest was made by Chief Goshorn and Detective Castner. Mrs. Partida at first pleaded not guilty. Later in the afternoon her attorney advised her to change her plea.

yesterday and reached the conclusion that changes were needed.

Members of the board of education and school officials were till yesterday ignorant of the fact that such a petition was being circulated. A. E. Sunderland, president of the board, declared that such a condition as was purported in the petition had never been brought to the attention of the board members, and that not a protesting teacher or student had ever appeared before the board with such a grievance.

The actual condition is not nearly so bad as it is painted, declared Sunderland. He absolutely denied that it was necessary for the girls to leave their lockers on the floor of the dressing rooms, stating that there were plenty of hooks where the packages might be hung.

The board realizes that the entire high school plant is inadequate to house the students, and as a natural sequence, that the sanitary facilities are not adequate. This is the reason that we are planning to spend $55,000 without any extra taxation on a new high school annex, plans for which are now being drawn. The new annex will have ample sanitary accommodations, and will solve the difficulties now being experienced," declared Sunderland.

It was pointed out that to overhaul the entire sanitary equipment in the old building and install new plumbing would mean an expenditure of thousands of dollars, and Sunderland declared that the Board of Education was reluctant to take such a step, owing to the fact that it did not deem it wise to spend any large amount of money on the old building. The president of the board reiterated that the new annex would take care of the sanitary situation, and that lockers would be installed in the basement of the old building.

Sunderland gave out the official figures showing the average daily attendance of girls at the high school as 425. The present sanitary facilities he declared made an average of one toilet for every 40, and taking into consideration the fact that fully 250 pupils use the rooms in the Hawthorne annex, and that of this number the bigger percentage were girls, the situation was far less serious than painted.

Superintendent C. C. Starr said that since a ruling of the board a year and a half ago had divided the work of the superintendent he no longer had supervision over such matters as were mentioned in the petition as might be supposed, and that he now had no supervision over buildings and was powerless to make a recommendation except in the case of new buildings. The superintendent stated that adequate facilities would be provided in the new annex, as he had seen to it in his conferences with Principal Lideke and the architects. The question of the installation of lockers is up to the board, Starr said, and expressed himself as favoring the gradual installation of lockers for the use of the pupils as found possible by the board.

Various members of the high school board expressed their surprise at the petition, and declared that to their certain knowledge no word of such conditions had ever reached the ears of the board.

Dr. J. R. Walker stated that he realized the sanitary equipment of the present high school was inadequate, and for that reason among others, had favored the erection of the high school annex.

Dr. Allison, another member of the board, said "if the condition is as bad as depicted, it most certainly should be remedied." Allison declared that no word of such conditions had ever reached him.

W. A. Conn, a third member, said that his complaints had ever come before the board, and that he believed the new annex would adequately remedy the condition if it did exist.

"There are just two things that can stop the wheels of the school department until remedied," said Jules E. Fontaine, secretary and business manager of the board, "and they are trouble with the heating plants or sanitation of the schools. All other things are set aside until these breaks are remedied." Fontaine stated that no complaint had ever come to him regarding the conditions set forth in the girls' petition.

A motor car accident on October 3, in which Elias Lindenmuth, an electrician for the Fresno Water Company, sustained a fractured skull, proved fatal yesterday morning, when he died at the Burnett sanitarium of septic infection of the brain, due to skull fracture.

They collided at L and Stanislaus streets. Lindenmuth was thrown to the pavement, sustaining a fracture of the skull at the base of the brain.

Experiments in National Government in Haiti

WASHINGTON, D. C.—One of the most interesting experiments in government to be found anywhere in the world today is being conducted by the United States in Haiti, upon which are located the Black Republic of Haiti and the Republic of Santo Domingo.

The experiment and the success which led up to this unique government venture are set forth in a bulletin issued by the National Geographic Society.

"After a century of effort to maintain itself as a separate, independent, sovereign nation, Santo Domingo in 1905 found itself about to fall a victim to its own excesses," says the bulletin. "Revolution had followed revolution almost with clocklike regularity. There were assassinations, there were betrayals, there were wars within and wars without—Haiti over boundary questions and civil war over the control of the government. Debts were piled up without thought of the day of payment or even provisions for meeting the interest charges."

"So long and so steady was the organization, speculation, debt-making and interest-dodging that the nation's credit grew worse than that of its individual citizens. Finally, the day of reckoning came. Foreign warships approached the ports whose harbors had given refuge to the great discovered Columbus and whose capital city still contains what undoubtedly are his ashes, and demanded that the claims of their subjects be satisfied—claims for money advanced, claims for interest accumulated, claims for property wrongfully destroyed and they demanded it at the point of big naval guns."

"In a predicament from which they were powerless to extricate themselves, the Dominicans were ready enough to negotiate a treaty turning over the control of the country to the United States. If, in return therefor, the United States would protect them from angry European creditors and rejuvenate their treasury."

"And so it was in 1905 the United States undertook to serve as treasurer of Santo Domingo and to touch for her debts. The tariff was quickly revised, the American authorities urging that duties be laid on luxuries rather than upon necessities, upon the things of the rich rather than upon those of the poor. The tariff as a device for the general reduction, being 50 per cent on export, taxes and 15 per cent on import duties."

"And yet in spite of this great reduction, in spite of payments of $1,200,000 a year on the debt, there was still left a greater debt to be paid for the government than it had ever had before."

"For a long time it was thought that, deprived of the opportunity of securing customs-house revenues through the seizure of ports, revolutions could not support themselves. But in 1911, after seven years of peace trouble broke out again, and during 1914 and 1915 it became so serious that the United States was forced to intervene in behalf of peace and to demand, with marines on shore and naval guns trained and pointed at the ports, that the country return to a state of quiet. And so today the Dominicans, realizing that the Monroe Doctrine is determined to afford them protection from their own excesses, have accepted the inevitable and have agreed to the United States to be carried out in the cleaning up of the affairs of the Republic."

"This new departure probably will insure peace, quiet, honest administration, and if it does, Haiti, certainly will go forward as few small countries ever have. It will have the richest gifts, a simple population, under a firm yet gentle, beneficent guidance, may realize the blessings of tranquil abundance."

sacrifice of blood and life that our country has stepped into the role of Good Samaritan to the peoples of Santo Domingo, Haiti, and Nicaragua, who had lost the blessings of peace and were unable to regain them. In Haiti alone we lost one officer and six marines and had a number wounded. But out of this untoward effort are graying results of which a nation that covets no territory, that seeks only its own security and the welfare of its unfortunate neighbors, may well be proud.

"In Porto Rico we have reduced the death rate from 45 per thousand to 18 per thousand, and a beginning along the same line is being made in those new fields of American endeavor. In Porto Rico wages have increased from 16 cents to 75 cents, and stable conditions show encouraging results in the same direction in our new ward lands. In Porto Rico the school attendance jumped from 20 per cent to more than 85, and these new wards are trying to follow in Porto Rico's path."

"Wherever America has gone, whether in Cuba, whether to Panama, whether to Santo Domingo, Porto Rico, Nicaragua, the Philippines, or Haiti, the welfare of the people has been her first concern; and while all colonial history shows that the tares of evil are never absent from the wheat of good, our nation's record of help given, where needed in one that will may challenge our administration and quicken our patriotism."

"The success in Santo Domingo customs administration led to another experiment along the same line a year later. Nicaragua became a revolution, resulting in the overthrow of Zelaya and the conversion of the country from an unappealing despotism into one of ruinous anarchy. Rival factions issued fiat money as freely as tap water flows from a mountain. The treasury was bankrupt, interest was in default, foreign creditors were threatening to collect their debts with gunboats and cruisers, and there was not enough money to be had by the party in power even to pay the salaries of the soldiers' wages. The offer of the United States to perform for the Nicaraguans a service similar to that given the Dominicans was accepted, and here again the plan worked beautifully as long as the head-headed revolution remained under cover. Trouble came, however, and only the presence of American marines has served to keep the peace. The 'outs' are bitterly opposed to the role being played by the United States; but Nicaragua is being rejuvenated in spite of every handicap that the state of mind of its citizens entails."

"If conditions were bad in Santo Domingo when the United States undertook to help the country back to peace and prosperity, they were worse in Nicaragua when we assumed the role of guardian. But even in Nicaragua they were mild indeed compared with those obtaining in Haiti when our country finally stepped in there."

"Our agreement with Haiti goes further than those with Santo Domingo and Nicaragua. It provides for an American-offered constitution which shall give control of the country and the regulation of all matters pertaining to arms and ammunition. Furthermore, it provides for the appointment of a sanitary engineer whose recommendations, as approved by the United States, are to be carried out in the cleaning up of the affairs of the Republic."

"This new departure probably will insure peace, quiet, honest administration, and if it does, Haiti, certainly will go forward as few small countries ever have. It will have the richest gifts, a simple population, under a firm yet gentle, beneficent guidance, may realize the blessings of tranquil abundance."

Since then there have been no bank failures in China. This method of dealing with financial trouble may not be appealingly poetic, but it appears to have been undeniably effective.—From the Sioux City Tribune.

TALKS ON BANKING

The Origin of Savings Banks

When it is considered that in some states such as Massachusetts, one out of every two and a half people have savings bank accounts, and in New York, where the great population is one out of three, the intimacy with which the savings bank touches the individual will become manifest. In fact no other institution except the home, the church, or the school comes into such close contact with humanity as does the savings bank. And because it touches the lives of so many people so vitally, the whole body politic is interested in the savings bank and what it does.

Financially speaking no other institution has such a marked effect for good on the individual and the community, as does the bank that takes your money. Every time you cross a well paved street, take a walk in the park, send your children to school, turn in an alarm of fire, draw some water, look with pride upon your public buildings, enter a well kept home, you pay tribute to the institution that made these things possible, and that institution is the savings bank.

While the bank of discount is an indispensable part of business life, and we could not do business without it, the number of patrons of the bank of discount is insignificant in comparison with the depositors of the savings banks of the country, now numbering over ten million.

It is well to know something about this feature of banking, for a savings bank is more than "a place to put money." It is a great co-operative investment institution, and inasmuch as this is the Centennial Year of the savings bank and the event will be properly celebrated by the American Banking Association at its annual meeting at Kansas City in September, it is proposed to outline as briefly as possible in the next three or four talks on banking in the present series, the fundamental features of the savings bank. Like a great many other institutions that have made for human good, the savings bank is a development of the origin of the idea is in doubt. Daniel Defoe's "Robinson Crusoe" fame mentioned as the original savings bank man, who conceived a scheme for the receipt of deposits on the part of the government. Nothing out of the ordinary. Wakefield and Joseph Smith in England also had schemes for the receipt on the part of the well to do, of small savings and the repaying of the small at Christmas time with a bounty, contributed by the wealthy managers, but these schemes worked on the theory that the poor should be encouraged to save for the sake of the reward offered, and were supported by the donations of the rich, which is far from the savings bank idea. The first man to grasp the fact that the earning power of the savings bank is a development of the theory that the poor should be encouraged to save for the sake of the reward offered, and were supported by the donations of the rich, which is far from the savings bank idea. ## HEAD OF SOCIALIST TICKET COMING TO FRESNO

Will Speak at Auditorium
on Monday Night,
October 16

Socialists of Valley Will
Greet Him

ALLEN L. BENSON
Socialist candidate for president, who will speak in Fresno next Monday night.

Allen L. Benson, candidate for President on the Socialist ticket, will speak in Fresno on Monday evening, October 16, at 8 o'clock at the Fresno Auditorium. This will be made an occasion for an all-day celebration of the Socialists of the entire valley. A luncheon will be served to the visiting Socialists and their friends at W. O. W. Hall, corner Van Ness and Tuolumne.

DEATH SUMMONS MRS. LE CLERT

Mrs. Isabella Le Clert, wife of S. T. Le Clert, died at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Charles Schmidt, 333 Diana street, yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock. The funeral services will be held from the St. Joseph's Roman Catholic church at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon. The body will be sent to Tuolumne for burial.

Mrs. Le Clert was 64 years of age, a native of California and for the past eight years had resided in Fresno county. She is survived by two sons, Robert J. and Clifford; two sisters, one brother, The husband, S. T. Le Clert, lives in Fresno.

at 12:30 on that day. Following the luncheon will be a convention of the San Joaquin Valley Socialist Federation, an auxiliary of the Socialist party recently organized at Modesto and embracing the entire San Joaquin Valley, being composed of near Socialists and sympathizers who, for various reasons, cannot join the political organization directly.

Benson has the distinction of being the only candidate for the presidency nominated by a referendum vote of the rank and file of his party. This is a distinctive feature of the Socialist party that each member of the party has his or her voice to vote upon all questions, the initiative and referendum being in constant use. Their national platform was adopted in this manner.

Benson is now on the Pacific coast, and reports are that he is being greeted by large audiences everywhere. At Seattle five thousand people heard him. The name of Allen L. Benson has become familiar to many through his extensive contributions to magazines. He was for several years editor of the Detroit and Washington Times. Early in the campaign he submitted to the national executive board of the party the suggestion of writing a series of small leaflets, each of which should contain a message to the people upon some issue of the moment, these to be distributed by the membership throughout the country. His suggestion was readily adopted, and a series of ten leaflets printed, containing in all over twenty-one million pieces of literature. These are being distributed from house to house in consecutive order by the various Socialist organizations throughout the country.

Accompanying Benson is George Connel, one of the national lecturers of the party; Harry M. McKee, the local attorney and Socialist candidate for Congress for this district, will act as chairman of the meeting.

HODGES TO SPEAK FOR DRYS TONIGHT

Former Kansas Governor to Tell of Conditions in Kansas

Former Governor George H. Hodges of Kansas, prominent in Democratic politics for many years, is scheduled to speak in the Fresno Auditorium tonight at 8 o'clock. He comes here, according to previous announcement, to reply to statements alleged to have been made by the pro-liquor element that prohibition has injured Kansas.

Hodges first became prominent in political circles in 1891 when he was elected to the state Senate. He remained in the Senate until 1912, when he ran for governor of the state on the Democratic ticket and was elected. He was the only man of his party to be elected that year to a state office.

Beginning his career in Kansas as a young man, Governor Hodges worked as a day laborer in a lumber yard. This was in 1886. Three years later he went into the lumber business on his own account. Since that time he has made wonderful strides in the business and banking world.

Hodges says that prohibition is the greatest thing that ever happened to Kansas. He is of the opinion that the best thing California can do for themselves is to adopt prohibition, too. It is expected that Hodges will describe conditions in Kansas since prohibition went into effect.

AUTO HITS MAN THEN ESCAPES

Dr. A. A. Sweeney yesterday asked the police to locate the driver of a motor car who on last Tuesday night ran down C. J. Mays, 715 L street on the State Highway. Dr. Sweeney treated Mays for severe bruises and possible internal injuries.

According to the story of Mays, he was riding a wheel to Calvan when the machine struck him, and pinned him beneath the car. An occupant of the car helped Mays to extricate himself, and then without rendering any aid, the driver started his machine, leaving the injured man lying to one side of the highway. At a late hour last night the police had not learned the identity of the driver.

ITALIAN CLUB TO HONOR COLUMBUS

The banquet will begin at 7 o'clock and the dancing will start at 9 o'clock. It is expected that about 300 will attend. Judge H. F. Briggs of Fresno and C. Crespi of San Francisco will be the principal speakers. The proceeds of the evening will be donated to the Fresno orphanage.

ARREST L. EGAN FOR BAD CHECKS

Leslie Egan was arrested in Taft yesterday on the authority of the police, charged with passing a fictitious check on the Tivoli saloon. Harry Sorenson is said to have asked J. H. # Five Features Determine Car Value

Power — Comfort — Style — Economy and Service

And it is on the pre-eminence of the Woodward-Elkhart in these five points that we claim consideration

POWER comes first. Plenty of power from a reliable source is the first essential, and in the Elkhart you have a 4-cylinder motor with 3 1-2x5 cylinders developing full 35 horse power at 1800 revolutions. Only by riding in the car can you appreciate this wonderful motor, only by test can you realize its silence, its flexibility, and its sturdiness. It is doubtful if there is any motor in any car that will outstrip this power plant on hill work or in heavy sandy travel.

COMFORT comes next. In the Woodward-Elkhart this is assured by the easy riding semi-elliptic springs in front, the long 3-4 elliptic springs in the rear, the long 114 inch wheel base and the big, wide, deep seats and the ample foot room. Our lower rear spring is 44 inches long. Our rear seat is 48 3-4 inches wide. From the rear of the front seat to the back of the rear seat you have 44 inches. Compare these big, liberal dimensions with those of any other car selling at less than $1000, and see on what we base our claim of the most comfortable, easy riding car of its class on the market.

STYLE is another thing to look for. You are proud of your Elkhart. No car at anything like its price has the size, or the lines, or the finish. And you have your choice of colors, too, deep maroon, olive green, napier green or black, just as you prefer. The little refinements, things you would not expect to find in cars selling for less than eleven or twelve hundred dollars, are on this car. Double bulb electric head lights, turned edge steel domed fenders, aluminum bound running boards, automatic ignition switch, these and other conveniences and niceties are here. See the car. Then you will understand how much style and class you are getting for your money.

ECONOMY is assured you. Economy of tires and of oil and of parts. By the use of best materials weight is kept down. This means a big saving on tires and gasoline. A further saving on fuel is secured in the motor by use of the Zenith carburetor and the double exhaust pipe. Like cars selling at $1500 and more we have the oil ports in the pistons. These make possible a thousand miles on a gallon of oil.

SERVICE—We won't say much about service. We simply refer you to our customers, who during the past 18 years have bought tools and machinery of us. Ask them what service they have had, and rest assured that you will get as good if you buy a car. You can't ask for more.

The claims we make above are broad, but before you buy a car give us a chance to prove them. Don't buy any particular car because your neighbor has one. Possibly we have something better. Look around a little first, investigate, get the most for your money. Call for a demonstration.

How to Keep Well, Talks on Health

By DR. W. A. EVANS
Professor of Hygiene in Northwestern University and Former Health Commissioner of Chicago

PIMPLES ARE NEEDLES
(Copyright, 1916, By Dr. W. A. Evans.)
The place—an open football field. The time—about a recent Sunday afternoon. Two prize football teams were preparing to play. I noticed two pimply faced boys dressed in football suits. There seemed to be an exception to the rule that pimples are the result of wrong living and that persons in prime physical condition do not have pimples.

Presently the two pimply faced fellows came out. One asked the other if he had a chew of tobacco. You bet he had. One pulled a plug from some place or other. Each bit off a cheekful. Here, seemed to be an exception to another rule. Tobacco ruins the skin. Athletes in training are not allowed to use it.

The captain ordered the teams to line up. Then I saw that the supposed exceptions to the rule were not such. The two pimply faced kids did not line up. I looked for them. Their job was to keep the spectators off the field. Later on I noticed that they ran with the water bucket. They were lacking for the team, and for this service they were allowed the privilege of wearing uniform.

A pimply faced boy can lackey. By the same token a lackey can chew tobacco. But neither a pimply faced boy nor a tobacco chewer can play football. If he plays at all he will have to play on a fourth rate prize team, and at that he will not be a lackey when he thinks he can get away with it. A boy who plays football hard, who then goes into a cold cleansing bath and a cold shower, who gets hot and wet with sweat, who then cleans his skin and takes a good rub, such a boy does not have pimples. Conversely, when a boy has pimples it is reasonably certain that he has not trained.

And that is about all there is to the pimples proposition. A great many people want to know what to do for pimples. What do I say to say. Clearing it out in where the trouble comes. So many who want to get rid of pimples are unwilling to pay the price. Some of them want something for nothing. Others want to get the best of the bargain. They want to get rid of pimples. It is true, but they want more to eat candy, to loaf and loaf around. They are unwilling to work hard, to get away, and to keep the skin rubbed clean.

Amber Beads Useful
Bertie writes: "Will you please tell me how I can rid myself of a goiter? I am

A young lady 20 years of age and have had a goiter for at least six years. It seldom bothers me, but when it does it almost chokes me at night. I have tried amber beads and worn them two years without relief. I have also tried several different kinds of medicine without relief. Now, can you give me advice of any kind?"

REPLY.
I am publishing your letter largely because of your statement about amber beads. The belief that amber beads will cure goiter is an old superstition which should go into the junk pile with other superstitions, such as that fright can cause a birthmark. A lady tells me that when a person with goiter buys beads in a department store the clerks insist on selling her amber beads. The cause of a goiter may be infected tonsils. In such cases the tonsils are to be treated. It may be indigestion. Treatment consists largely in regulation of eating. It may be due to conditions in the pelvis in women. Have your case carefully studied.

Quinine Habit
E. H. D. writes: "Is there any danger of a person becoming a quinine fiend? Have lived in the delta for twelve years and taken much quinine, often much as you advocate, without any unpleasant effects other than ringing in the head and dizziness."
"Now it affects my head badly and makes me drier than formerly, still I seem unable to keep up without it. If I do not take it my limbs and back ache and I feel weak and listless generally."

REPLY.
I think there is some danger of quinine habit. If you have gotten so that you have backache and feel weak and listless generally when you do not take it, you had better discontinue it, unless your physician finds that you have an enlarged spleen (ague cake) or malarial parasites in your blood.

Phosphates in Food
H. S. D. writes: "What foods will supply the greatest amount of phosphates? Do you get a fair percentage of phosphates in malted milk?"

REPLY.
The yellow of eggs, wheat, especially whole wheat, almonds, peanuts, and walnuts, lean meats, oatmeal, and dried beans and peas. Malted milk contains a considerable percentage of phosphates. A large percentage of the phosphates in milk can be used and is used by the system.

W. H. JENKS GUILTY; GIVEN PROBATION

Jury Recommends Firebug to Mercy of the Court

Guilty of arson and of burning insured property with intent to defraud insurance companies was the verdict returned yesterday morning in the Superior Court against W. H. Jenks, Fresno. The jury recommended the convicted man to the "extreme mercy of the court" or to probation. Judge H. Z. Austin, following the reading of the verdict by Clerk Mueller, asked if the defendant was ready to receive sentence. An affirmative answer being made by counsel, Judge Austin ordered Jenks placed on probation for five years.

Both Jenks and his wife broke out crying when the verdict of the jury was read. The case was given to the jury Tuesday afternoon. At 6 o'clock Tuesday evening the vote stood 8 for conviction and 4 for acquittal. Several ballots were taken after the jury returned from dinner Tuesday evening. At 9:30 o'clock Tuesday night Deputy Sheriff T. C. Vickers reported back to Judge Austin that no verdict had been reached and the order was made that the jury be locked up for the night. Deliberating was resumed early yesterday morning by the jurors and when Judge Austin reached court at 9:30 it was announced that a verdict had been reached. At one time the vote was 10 to 2 for conviction. The counted for conviction as against 2 for acquittal, and another time the vote was 10 to 2 for conviction. The final verdict was reached when the jurors who favored acquittal received a promise of a vote for leniency from those who voted for conviction.

The jurors in the Jenks case were: D. W. Smith, foreman, J. C. Young, B. D. Maxson, Jr., L. P. Martin, John Ostler, A. J. Britten, N. W. Bostick, G. L. Arnold, C. W. Crawford, J. T. Cowan, H. P. Steltz and M. R. Morton. Jenks admitted setting fire to the store of Frank Hixon, in Main street on the night of October 28, 1915. Later he changed his plea to not guilty. The defense offered by his attorneys was insanity. About a score of witnesses were called to testify for the defense. They gave it as their opinion that Jenks was insane. District Attorney McCormick called but one witness, Dr. Andrew W. Holsholdt, superintendent of the Napa State Hospital to testify that Jenks was not insane.

"HONEST MEASURE" WEEK IS PLANNED

Weights and Measures Officials to Lecture; Clergy Asked to Talk

The State Department of Weights and Measures, in co-operation with all county departments, is preparing to inaugurate an "Honest Weights and Measures Week," beginning Sunday, October 22. Charles G. Johnson, the state superintendent, has appealed to the clergy throughout the state to make "Honest Weights and Measures" the subject of their sermons on October 22.

During the week all weights and measure officials will lecture in the schools throughout the state on weights and measures, and will demonstrate their commercial employment. All merchants' associations, chambers of commerce and merchants in the state will be enlisted in the campaign for honest weights and measures. "The success of honest and legitimate trade demands accurate weights and measures and the honest employment of correct weighing apparatus," says Superintendent Johnson. "The purchasing public, which is chiefly concerned, should seriously insist itself in honest weights and measures. More commercial misconduct in carelessness and ignorance than in any other cause. Honest merchants invite your concern and co-operation. There should be no others." "To be honest for policy's sake is an old and worn out adage. Honesty in trade should be a principle, not a policy."

THE 24-hour endurance test of the Hudson Super-Six in which it traveled 1819 miles in one day, developed punishment in excess of anything the average driver will ask of his car in a lifetime.

You never will attempt with your Super-Six to equal its record on the speedway. Perhaps thirty or forty miles an hour is as fast as you will ever care to go.

But you do sometimes want to leap from three or four miles an hour to fast speed to escape congestion.

You want at any speed to glide up the steepest hills without gear-shifting.

You want to ride without feeling the presence of the motor.

These things are possible exclusively in the Hudson Super-Six, because of its newly discovered motor. Because we hold a patent on the design you can find such qualities only in the Hudson Super-Six.

MONTEREY HARBOR IS ISSUE IN CAMPAIGN

Phillips Answers Question of Constituent on Waterfront Work
Would Seek Release of Gov't Appropriation to Start Work

The improvement of the harbor of Monterey and the establishment thereof of an adequate defense against an invading force, two of the main issues in the congressional fight in the seventh district, were answered squarely and unequivocally by W. W. Phillips, Republican candidate for Congress in that district, yesterday in an answer directed by him to A. C. Cranor, local road contractor, who demanded from the candidate an expression of his policy, in the event of election, with regard to these important questions. Phillips declared that if elected he would do all in his power to bring about the commencement of work at Monterey through the release of the government appropriation for the work. Adequate preparation for defense would also be part of his program in Washington, he declared. Cranor's letter and the reply of Phillips follow:

Honorable W. W. Phillips,
Candidate for Congress, 7th District,
Fresno, California.

Dear Sir: Believing, as I do, that cheaper transportation for freight commodities would be of a greater benefit to the people of the San Joaquin Valley than any other work which our representative in Congress could hope to accomplish, and as it is a matter of record by less authority than the War and Engineering Department of the United States that one-fifth of California's productive area is nearer tidewater connections at Monterey than any other part of California, and that that district so affected, although containing no large cities, constitutes one-tenth of California's total population, and that approximately the same proportion of California's total agricultural production is nearer tidewater connections at Monterey than any other part of California, and that the Pacific Slope Congress, the civic organizations of fifty-two counties of California, in convention assembled, the Chambers of Commerce of San Francisco, Fresno, Coalinga, Stockton, Napa, San Jose, Visalia and many other civic bodies of the state, have recommended to the state and government the immediate construction of breakwater improvements at Monterey Bay, in order to furnish an outlet to sea from the several districts affected, and I have information from no less authority than Governor Johnson of this state that the state of California and the federal government have made joint appropriations for breakwater improvements at Monterey, but have as yet made no beginning of the construction of same, and as it is generally understood that a cross country rail connection between the San Joaquin Valley and the port of Monterey is delayed pending the actual construction of said breakwater, I am writing to you to inquire, in the event that you are elected to represent this district in Congress, if you will consider it of the first importance to you and to the people of this district to bring about the immediate improvement of Central California's harbor at Monterey.

Further, I have been advised on good authority that there is absolutely no means of defense or absolutely no means of repel in the event of any attack to any hostile nation, and that whereas the harbor of Monterey is but sixty miles from the San Joaquin Valley, in the event of any such attack, the San Joaquin Valley and all events of Central California would be left absolutely at the mercy of any attacking force. I would be glad if you would first investigate and find if this condition exists and would be looking to the immediate correction of such condition.

Yours very truly,
A. C. CRANOR.

Mr. A. C. Cranor,
Fresno, Calif.

Dear Sir: Your letter of October 9, in which you ask an expression of my stand with reference to harbor improvement work at Monterey and the attendant influence on transportation facilities for this valley, is before me.

As you suggest in your letter, Monterey is the closest future port for this vast agricultural section of California. Doubtless, it will some day be improved, and two or more lines of important lines will build lines to link it with the valley, but the question of interest is: Will it be done in our own day and generation, so that we may enjoy the resultant $600,000 for the improvement of the harbor of Monterey already appropriated $200,000 to be expended jointly with the federal government in harbor improvement work at Monterey, and that the federal government has appropriated $400,000 for this work, all that appears to be needed is to get this fund released and the work started. But the work will not be begun as long as there is a string on the federal appropriation. Doubtless, the San Joaquin Valley have begun for the building of a railroad. The harbor improvement work must first be started. The railroad will follow in time.

My service as president of the Fresno County Chamber of Commerce makes this subject one of special interest to me, and I take this occasion, in replying to your letter, to assure you emphatically that, if elected to Congress, it will be a part of my program of terms for this valley to co-operate with Congressman Hayes, Republican, who has served the eighth district so many years, in bringing about the commencement of the work at Monterey through the release of the government appropriation for the work.

Of course, the need of fortifications for defense at Monterey is equally imperative. San Francisco and Los Angeles, the centers of the San Joaquin Valley, indeed, would be at the mercy of an invading force as long as Monterey continues to furnish one of the best harbors on the Pacific coast and yet remains defenseless. It is little more than sixty miles through the coast range into this valley from Monterey, and, once landed there, a large attacking army might easily invade this valley and approach our large cities from the rear.

Adequate preparation for defense is as much a part of my program as harbor improvement and the betterment of transportation facilities.

Very truly yours,
W. W. PHILLIPS.

STOP THIS CONSTANT WASTE

1/2 Million Dollars Yearly Is Being Crushed Under Road Repairing Machines

Every time you see a road-making machine at work you are witness to an unavoidable waste of money as long as our present road system is maintained.

Last year these "caterpillars" and other machines used for road repairing ate up close to a half million dollars and unless a new system of permanent roads is constructed, the expenditures for road repairing will reach the huge sum of a million dollars yearly within the next ten to fifteen years.

This waste can be partially curtailed by voting for the good roads bond issue, as this will be the saving of at least a quarter million dollars a year.

$440,906.32 was expended by Fresno County last year in road repairing and the replacement of temporary bridges with concrete permanent bridges.

These figures have been carefully investigated and found to represent a very careful expenditure. There has been no waste. In fact, a surprising amount of work has been done for the amount of money spent.

If Fresno County is to stop this waste there is but one course to pursue and that is to construct an entirely new road system, one that will be permanent, so that we will be free from this everlasting drain on our resources.

If Fresno County can afford a yearly expenditure of this kind surely it can better afford to put this money into a road that will not need constant repairing.

The proposed bond issue is for three and a half millions and while this sounds like a lot of money, yet it is only about 3 1/2 per cent of the assessed valuation of the taxable property in Fresno County.

It means the borrowing of 3 1/2 per cent of our assessed valuation at 4 1/2 per cent interest for a period of thirty years. A man who is assessed for $1,000 will have to pay $36.00 in the next thirty years plus 4 1/2 per cent interest on deferred payments.

The taxpayers with $10,000 of taxable property will have to pay $360 in thirty years at 4 1/2 per cent interest, so it is readily seen that the burden of carrying 3 1/2 millions in bonds will not rest very heavy on each individual.

Year	Bond Payment and Interest	Est. Taxable Assessed Valuation	Act. Amt. Tax per $100	Act. Amt. Tax per $1,000
1917	$162,000	$ 93,041,700	$0.174	$1.74
1920	282,000	106,454,250	0.264	2.64
1925	255,000	128,808,500	0.197	1.97
1930	228,000	151,162,750	0.150	1.50
1940	174,000	195,871,350	0.088	0.88
1949	125,400	236,109,000	0.053	0.53

Herewith is shown a table based upon the same rate of increase in valuation as has prevailed in Fresno County during the last fifteen years, and upon retiring the bonds under the plan proposed and to be voted upon on Tuesday, October 24th.

It is proposed to issue $3,500,000 in bonds bearing 4 1/2 per cent interest per annum covering a period of thirty years after the first payment in 1917. The average tax on every hundred dollars of taxable property will be 13c, which is a very small sum to pay out for the benefits that will accrue from a good road system.

Every individual will receive a greater direct benefit from good roads than he could derive from the same amount of money invested in any other project.

There are quantities of lumber produced here which will be suitable for any purpose in connection with road building. The soil conditions are favorable in most instances, so we are in an unusually good position to construct a system of highways at the least possible cost and yet be assured that the very best qualities will be utilized in the construction.

At least 80 per cent, or over two and a half million dollars of the proposed bond issue will be spent right here in Fresno County. We have most of our own material; rock, the finest in the world, gravel and sand, oil and asphalt in abundance at the lowest prices. Cement is the only material that will have to be purchased outside of the county and that can come from the cement plants of this State at the very lowest cost.

We are to use only home labor as far as possible and this is the one big item of expense. The money will be brought into Fresno County from outside sources and spent here. It will go into all channels of trade, helping to stimulate business and prosperity and to be used over and over again in developing industries, making other needed permanent improvements and otherwise helping to place Fresno County where it belongs, right in the front of the best communities in the state and the one to which people will desire to immigrate and having one arrived will settle down and live happily ever after.

Fresno County is one of the big producers of oil which are available for the manufacture of road oils. Most of the oil which would be used for road construction would come from Coalinga.

The asphalt which is used in the construction of asphalt wearing surfaces is usually taken from California. There are a number of excellent gravel deposits here in the county and crushed rock can also be readily obtained.

Every voter is urged to give careful consideration to this proposition, as it is the most important issue that we have ever confronted.

The Good Roads Advisory Committee urge you to vote "yes," as they have made investigations which have convinced them that the passing of this measure means the increased prosperity and happiness of every individual.

EDITORIAL

A great era of development is upon us. Fresno County will see more material development in the next fifteen years than has yet occurred since the "days of '49".

The whole State is marching onward with rapid strides; most of us are unable to keep up with the progress being made. It behooves every citizen to do his or her part in helping to develop the latent possibilities that lie around us.

There is no other thing that helps to develop the country more than a good road system.

When you vote "Yes" at the polls on October 24th you will discharge your obligations to your county only to a certain extent. More is required of you than just to vote; the favorable vote of your neighbor is also necessary.

Fresno County should not be satisfied with just a bare majority; it wants to proclaim to the world that the bond issue was voted for almost unanimously and the only way to bring about this result is for every citizen to make his or her neighbor a good roads advocate.

Begin your duties immediately.

8,300 School Children Will Be Benefited

The use of good roads by pedestrians is quite small except in the case of children.

There is in Fresno County this year an enrollment of about 20,230 pupils of whom 8,300 reside outside of incorporated cities. Most of these 8,300 children travel a distance of several miles each way to school.

ONE TEAM HAULS AS MUCH AS TWO

5c A Ton Saved

A statement that one team of horses hauling on good roads will haul as much as two teams on ordinary roads is a very conservative statement.

In many communities they claim that since good roads have been constructed that four and five times as much is now being hauled by one team as was formerly possible.

Between two and four million tons are hauled on Fresno County yearly so you can imagine the great benefits that good roads would bring to those who must do this hauling and the tremendous amount of time it would save.

The estimated saving is conservatively placed at 5c a ton a mile and at that figure it would mean the saving of from three to six hundred thousand dollars yearly. Then think of the vast difference in comfort and pleasure between riding over a hard, smooth, dustless and mudless road as against the lumpy and jolting over chuck holes and ruts.

In Fresno County there are about 10,000 horses and mules, 5000 horse-drawn vehicles, 10,000 bicycles and 1000 motor cycles. These are valued at about $1,450,000. If from good roads only 10 per cent in depreciation were saved it would amount to $145,000 every year.

There are over 3,000 automobiles in Fresno County. If they average 20 miles a day for 300 working days we get a mileage of 37,500,000 yearly.

At 10c per mile operating expenses the total exceeds $3,750,000 per year. Good roads should save 10 per cent of this sum.

Nearly All Materials For Road Building Found In Fresno County

Much of the Money Expended Will Remain In Our Own Trade Channels

Work Will Be Provided For The Unemployed

Good roads will solve the "unemployed problem" and add to the prosperity of Fresno County, for these men will naturally have to put the money that they earn back into circulation.

There is considerable unemployment in the county now and this work would do much to relieve present conditions and add to the stability of local working conditions.

A great many taxpayers will undoubtedly earn more during the construction of this work than they will have to pay out all told for taxes. With this work under way in this county the question of unemployment will be practically settled for several years.

Election Day Tuesday, October 24th

This day has been set aside for the people of Fresno County to vote whether or not we shall issue bonds for the sum of $3,500,000 for the purpose of constructing a good roads system.

Every voter is urged to give careful consideration to this proposition, as it is the most important issue that we have ever confronted.

The Good Roads Advisory Committee urge you to vote "yes," as they have made investigations which have convinced them that the passing of this measure means the increased prosperity and happiness of every individual.

Well Known Men Will Supervise

An Advisory committee has been chosen to supervise expenditures and construction in the event that the bond issue carries and every voter is assured of the integrity and sincerity of these men.

The taxpayers' interests will be protected in every instance and every penny will be wisely spent. These men are devoting their time and efforts without compensation gladly and it is only fair that in the spirit of reciprocity, every voter avail him or herself of every opportunity to investigate the merits of the good roads question.

A full vote will be regarded as a complement by these men and if a full vote is secured the bonds will carry by a large majority, as there can be no question as to the advisability of constructing good roads.

A careful investigation will convince every voter of the need of good roads.

MADERA MAY SECURE LARGE OLIVE PLANT

Association Plans Building One in City Says Secretary Underhill

MADERA, Oct. 11.—R. A. Underhill, secretary of the California Associated Olive Growers, who was in the city yesterday, stated that the association is seriously considering installing a processing and packing plant at Madera to handle the olives of this section of the state. He stated that the crop here, especially the Manzanilla variety, was the very best in the state, and the fruit was large and fine. Mr. Underhill was here to inspect the crop and advise growers as to shipping. The association has leased a processing plant at Porterville, which will be managed by R. A. Powell, formerly of Fresno, an expert in curing and packing. The crop here will begin moving within a few days, picking having begun yesterday. Growers here will ship to Porterville. In view of the excellence of Madera olives, and interest that growers here have taken in the new association, it is quite probable that the plant will be established here, said Secretary Underhill. It is also probable that the plant will be built in time to handle next season's crop. A plant is now being built in San Diego county. Return Roberto, now of San Francisco, a prominent olive grower here, is one of the directors of the California Associated Olive Growers.

The Redwood Manufacturing company of San Francisco has the contract for supplying all of the redwood pipe and a large amount is already delivered. Ten car loads of steel bands for the continuous wood stave pipe have been delivered by the Santa Fe at its side at Exeter. Two hundred and fifty inch machine banded pipe has arrived and has been distributed ready for laying. The Redwood Manufacturing company has a construction crew on the ground and will start laying pipe as soon as the trenching machine begins excavating for the trenches. J. P. ## HANFORD BOOTLEGGER IS ACQUITTED BY JURY

Trial Created Interest as Defendant Was First One to Put Up Fight

HANFORD, Oct. 11.—J. K. Box, charged with selling liquor in no-license territory, was found not guilty in the Superior Court this evening. The jury was out for an hour and a half. Box was arrested August 22, last, at the instance of two detectives, who had been roaming over his store. The detectives stated that they had purchased wine from him, paying 50 cents per bottle. The defense was that the detectives had entered into a partnership with Box for the purchase of the liquor, and that when the detectives paid for what they purchased they had merely paid for their share, Box having purchased the liquor in Grangeville, buying five gallons, the minimum amount allowed by the county ordinance. Box admitted the sale of the liquor and the circumstances. Box on the witness stand stated that the detectives paid for two bottles. After the first bottle was taken away the detectives came back and asked for a second one, saying that they had broken the first one. The second bottle was then handed over. The detective's evidence was along the same lines.

The final arguments were finished at 5 o'clock, the case then going to the jury. Considerable interest was shown in the case as Box was the only alleged bootlegger who pleaded not guilty.

SELMANS OPPOSE HIGHWAY BONDS

Organization Is Formed Which Is Not Opposed to Good Roads, But Favors Direct Tax Plan

SELMIA, Oct. 11.—A strong organization of tax payers has been formed here for the purpose of opposing the proposition to bond the county for $3,600,000 for the improvement of roads as favored by the highway commission. The general expression of those belonging seems to be in favor of good roads, but opposed to the bonding proposition to run over a period of years. Instead, they favor direct taxation year by year as needed units are built, and argue that by this method the county would obtain more than double value for the money expended. This organization is reported to be one of several which are being formed in the county.

Old Guard Fails to Halt Boston in Their Dash to Championship

Larry Gardner's Four Bagger Is Beginning of End for Robinson's Players

MARQUARD WEAKENS IN SECOND AND RED SOX TAKE LEAD NEVER AGAIN TO EVEN SCENT DANGER

When Cheney Hurries to Rescue Terrific Onslaught Continues and Carrigan's Men Battle Their Way to Victory

NEW YORK, Oct. 11.—The Boston Americans drew one notch nearer to the world's championship here this afternoon when they defeated the Brooklyn Nationals 6 to 2, in the fourth game of the series, which now stands 3 to 1 in favor of Boston. Tomorrow the conflict will be renewed at Braves Field, Boston, Columbus Day tomorrow is a legal holiday in Massachusetts, and the indications point to an enormous attendance.

The manner in which the Boston team into the Brooklyn team here this afternoon left no doubt as to their intention of ending the series as quickly as possible. Pitcher Leonard gave the Nationals a two-run lead in the opening inning, but his team mates made then made up the handicap in the second session, and, once in the van, refused to permit Brooklyn to creep up on them. Today was the first time since the initial game against the Philadelphia Nationals in the series of 1915 that Boston has won from its rivals by a margin of more than one run.

The contest, although featured by several sensational plays, did not rise much above the average of a regular season contest. Once Leonard swung into form the Brooklyn batters found it impossible to score. Left-handed hitting ripped off the bats of the Boston to be charged against the account of Brooklyn's pitchers, while splendid catches, stops and throws made the way easy for Leonard.

Dodgers Off Flyer gave its supporters great hopes of repeating the victory of Tuesday, when two runs were put over in the first inning on Johnston's triple. Myers' single, a base on balls and an error on the part of his catcher, got Myers to the plate. Rube Marquard, Manager Robinson's selection for a second try against the Boston batters, held Boston in check in the first inning, but Gardner took the matter out of his delivery when he hammered out a home run, his second in two days, with two on bases. In the next inning, Marquard walked, Hohlitzel, the first man up, and Lewis advanced him to third with a double. Quicker on bases, Dineen, left field, cleaned up with his homer, a drive to deep center.

Boston added another tally in the fourth when Lewis singled, went to second on Gardner's sacrifice and scored on Manager Carrigan's single.

Another was added in the fifth, when Cheney, who replaced Marquard in the box after Pfeiffer had batted for the former, passed Hooper, who stole second and scored on Hohlitzel's double. The final run of the game came in the seventh. Janvrin, second up, forced Hooper, who had singled, went to second on Walker's sacrifice, and scored when Hohlitzel grounded to Cheney, whose throw to first hit the runner.

Rucker in Series. Cheney was soon afterwards replaced by Nap Rucker, one of the greatest of southpaws when at the height of his career. Rucker, with great deliberateness and wide, sweeping curves, held the Bostonians scoreless to the end. In the two innings he held command he fanned three of the batters that faced him and allowed but one hit. Of the four pitchers in the game, Leonard's work was the best. He allowed but five hits in nine innings, struck out three, gave four bases on balls and made one wild pitch. Boston got ten hits off Brooklyn's three pitchers for a total of fifty.

Notwithstanding the perfect weather condition and Brooklyn's victory of the preceding day, the stands showed many vacant seats, although the attendance was a trifle better than on Tuesday. The official figures showed that 21,662 spectators were present and that the receipts were $72,840. Of this sum the players will receive $38,333.60; each club, $13,111.20 and the National Commission $2,405.24.

Hooper first up for Boston, had a count of two and two and grounded out. Marquard to Merkle. Janvrin and Walker struck out. Brooklyn was at the bat ten minutes in her half of the first in which the National leaguers crowded all their scoring. Johnston hit the first ball pitched for a slashing three-bagger to the center field fence, and scored on Myers' one base drive to right field. Merkle was given a base on balls and was fanned at second by Wheat, Gardner to Janvrin. Myers going to third on the play. Wheat moved up to second on a wild pitch. Janvrin, who fumbled the ball and all runners were safe. Myers' run ended Brooklyn's scoring. Wheat and Cutshaw tried a double steal and the former was caught between third and home and run down. Carrigan to Janvrin to Gardner. Cutshaw was left at second as Marquard struck out. Gardner Right There. Boston took the lead promptly in

5,000 FRESNO FANS WATCHING THE REPUBLICAN SCOREBOARD AS IT TOLD HOW LEONARD A FRESNO BOY WON, AND DUTCH HIMSELF

DUTCH LEONARD'S THREE AMBITIONS IN BASEBALL HAVE BEEN GRATIFIED

Fresno Boy Has Pitched in World Series, Scored a No Hit and No Run Game and Is Rated Most Effective Pitcher in Game

No other pitcher in the game is more absolutely unshakable than "Dutch" Leonard, of the Red Sox, when he is feeling right. He may not be the most dependable, but he is certainly the most brilliant former of the renowned Red Sox pitching staff, says Baseball Magazine.

On the twenty-ninth of August, Leonard was lashed out of the box by one St. Louis Browns, on the directly he pitched them out without a hit. The player often forgets the vicissitudes of today in the expected triumphs of tomorrow, but if there is a sweeter, more delectable transition from failure to success than to be driven from the box one day and to pitch a no-hit game the next, we have never heard of it.

When "Dutch" Leonard entered the major leagues he had three ambitions. It is true he scarcely hoped to realize them, but he believed in aiming high. And he did aim high. The greatest pitcher in the world might be "Dutch" Leonard, but he has never been able to claim any one of the trophies which Leonard set himself to attain. Now at the age of twenty-four he has gained them all. His three ambitions are realized, and what he will get himself to win hereafter, we don't even know.

What were these three ambitions? First, to win a world's series game. Last fall Grover Cleveland entered the series as the greatest pitcher of the year. He humbled the Red Sox in their first encounter. He lost them again in the third game, a contest whose importance it would be hard to overestimate. And Leonard had his wish. He won a world's series game, not a fluky contest, but against the master pitcher of the year and by as brilliant a piece of twirling skill as has ever been witnessed.

The second ambition, scoring three runs, Hohlitzel waited and waited. Lewis smashed a double to the right field fence and Hohlitzel drew up at third. Larry Gardner cut three bad balls in a row and while waiting for the fourth had two strikes called on him and then fouled off two. Marquard's next offering looked good to Gardner and he poked it to the center field fence for a home run.

scoring Hohlitzel and Lewis ahead of him. The Boston third baseman just best the throw to the plate. Wheat muffed Scott's long fly while on the run and the Red Sox runner reached second. He advanced to third on Carrigan's sacrifice. Marquard to Merkle. Leonard fanned, and Hooper grounded out to Merkle. Unassisted, "this-inning basted sixteen minutes."

In the Dodgers' second, after Oles had grounded out, Gardner to Hohlitzel. Myers got a base on balls. He moved to second when Marquard went out. Leonard to Hohlitzel, and was left there as Johnston was thrown out by Scott.

In the third inning Cutshaw scooped up Janvrin's bouncer and threw him out. Walker did the unexpected and bunted toward third base. Marquard went to the plate. Hohlitzel and Walker reached first easily. Hohlitzel tried to steal second and was caught. Marquard's next offering looked good to Gardner and he poked it to the center field fence for a home run.

One, Two, Three Order. In the third inning Cutshaw scooped up Janvrin's bouncer and threw him out. Walker did the unexpected and bunted toward third base. Marquard went to the plate. Hohlitzel and Walker reached first easily. Hohlitzel tried to steal second and was caught. Marquard's next offering looked good to Gardner and he poked it to the center field fence for a home run.

The world's champions put another run across the plate in the fourth. Lewis opened with a single, and went to second on Gardner's sacrifice. Marquard went to the plate. Hohlitzel and Walker reached first easily. Hohlitzel tried to steal second and was caught. Marquard's next offering looked good to Gardner and he poked it to the center field fence for a home run.

Cutshaw opened Brooklyn's fourth with a two-base hit to right field. Hooper failing to hold the ball after touching it. He had made a hard try to catch it. Marquard walked, then in eighth he was out in an attempt to reach second.

Three hits the Phillies scored, one of them should have been classed as an error by Speaker, and nevertheless Leonard pitched the first three innings, but he was not able to keep the game to the Phillies had never a chance. The last eighteen men retired in order without the semblance of a hit, and finally tonight Alexander bowed quite as much to superior pitching as to superior defense. Leonard's attack and yielded the path of victory to his invincible opponent. Leonard had his wish, a world's series victory, by as masterly a performance as the game has seen.

Another of Leonard's three secret ambitions was to prove the most effective pitcher of a season. And he did. Incidentally, though, he established a record which should stand for years and may never be lowered. In 1914 he allowed but 25 earned runs in 35 games pitched. Some of these games, of course, were not for a full nine innings, but his grand average for the season was 1.81 earned runs per game.

This is the most nearly perfect average on record. The nearest it has ever been paralleled was by Walter Johnson, in 1911 with a grand average of 1.09. There may be pitchers who will in but a few contests who could show such effectiveness, but no pitcher who has taken part in a representative number of games has ever approached that mark save Johnson only, and he did not equal it.

The third ambition of "Dutch" Leonard was to pitch a no-hit game, and smarting by the rough treatment of his day before, he rallied that third and last of his ambitions on August 30. What number of pitcher is this who can back into a league of stars and amaze three such records at the age of twenty-four? Walter Johnson has toiled for years to pitch a no-hit game and so has Alexander, but though they came close to the mark they never could quite reach it. And to go through a season allowing an average of almost exactly one run per game is really almost too good a pitching feat to be true.

Leonard is a dark complexioned, stocky, but athletic, some five feet eleven inches in height and weighing 165 pounds. He looks more like a football player than a baseball pitcher, and he is indeed an all-around athlete. Twenty-four is young even in baseball. He should have at least ten years ahead, and what may be a pitcher accomplish in ten years, he has already done so much at twenty-four.

What Dutch did at Brooklyn yesterday is history now and can be added to his other achievements on the ball field.

Nares of the Fresno Canal and Irrigation Company is another who is working hard for the success of the big meeting here next month.

RUSH 10,000 CATTLE FROM SNOW CLAD MOUNTAINS

Large Herds Trapped by Three Foot Fall in High Pastures

Loss Small; Rescuers Are Forced to Build Trails

Ten thousand head of cattle, cut off from all food through a heavy snow in the mountainous country of the Kings and San Joaquin Rivers, are being rushed over snow covered trails to the lower foothills, in an effort to ward off starvation. The drive, which has been going on for a week, was more than half completed, according to reports received from the ranger station above Shaver last night. The percentage of cattle that will be lost through starvation is said to be small, considering the difficulty of rescuing the thousands of the herds in moving the stock.

Cattle in the San Joaquin river district have been saved with but small losses to the owners. Some few bands, caught several miles from the trail, and in localities where the snow fall was heaviest could not be included in the drives. All other animals fed behind weak from lack of food, and had to be abandoned. The trail leads over Mount Kaiser, beyond Huntington lake to the foothills. The entire distance beyond that point is covered by a heavy snow. The breaking of a trail, before it was possible to move the cattle. At present the rescued herds have been taken to the edge of the snow line, where they are able to find pasture. Arrangements will be made later to move them to their regular winter pastures. The Blingame brothers pastured the largest number of cattle in the mountain districts. J. A. W. O. and L. A. Blingame are personally directing the work, and have employed a large number of men to help them.

Ranger Frank Pierce at Shaver station, said last night that all of the larger herds in the San Joaquin river country had been moved from the snow fields, and that he had been informed that in the Kings river country more than half of the cattle had already been accounted for.

Considering the extent of the snow he stated that the work of the cattlemen in bringing out their stock was remarkable.

The snow fall last week was one of the earliest recorded in years, when the depth was considered. The cattle had not yet begun to take their herds into winter quarters for fully a month, and as a result were lacking in both food and horses necessary to the rapid moving of the cattle.

DEMOCRATS HOPE TO BRING COLBY HERE

Prominent Progressive May Replace Phelan Next Wednesday

Though positive assurances have not been received as yet, it is expected at Democratic headquarters here that Bainbridge Colby, New York Progressive, who nominated Theodore Roosevelt at the Progressive convention four years ago, will speak in Fresno next Wednesday night on the Democratic platform. Word that arrangements were being made to have the prominent Progressive speak here was received yesterday, but up to a late hour last night the definite statement expected had not been forthcoming.

If he appears here, Colby will take the place of United States Senator J. D. Phelan, who is campaigning with George S. Patton, Democratic candidate for Senate.

Plans are under way by local Democrats to make the appearance here of Colby one of the biggest political events of the campaign. The Fresno auditorium will be secured for the night and a long list of speakers added to the program.

Do You Ever Break Your Glasses?

"Unfortunately yes," you say. Rimless glasses almost invariably break at the hole where the little screws go through the lenses. No matter how carefully the lenses are mounted, a hard unyielding metal cannot be expected to hold brittle glass under tension without extreme danger of breaking.

We can offer you the Keelock mounting that will do away almost entirely with breakage. No screws are used—the lenses are "remounted" in without the slightest tension.

Human Sign Post Had Lucrative Job Until Assn. Signs Arrived

What a certain packing house employee of Kingsburg thinks of the California State Automobile Association would not look well in print.

For the past ten days this man, according to his own admission to Ray Cooper, local representative of the association, has been earning a wage of $10 a day by wearing a signpost on the state highway at Kingsburg that they would have to make a detour of seven miles there because the Kings River bridge is out of order. He said that nearly every tourist rewarded his courtesy with a two bit piece. Cooper yesterday put up two big signs directing travellers and the obliging human sign post returned to the packing-house.

MAY SAVE ALKALI LANDS WITH RICE

Irrigation Necessary for This Crop Will Remove Salts Says Expert

An experiment that may prove the means of reclaiming thousands of acres of waste land in California is being worked to a successful finish near Fresno on the ranch of H. E. Burleigh, according to a statement made yesterday by Charles Edward Chambliss, who is in charge of the rice investigations of the United States Department of Agriculture. Burleigh has planted a 60 acre piece of alkali land to rice and from Chambliss' survey of the field and soil yesterday he claims to be satisfied that the heavy, continual irrigation so essential to the rice culture has washed away much of the alkali salts in the land. A few seasons of rice cultivation on alkali land should make this heretofore waste land adaptable to practically all crops, said Chambliss.

In addition to the benefit derived by the soil through the elimination of the alkali, farmers will find, says Chambliss, that a fair crop of rice can be taken from alkali land. Burleigh's crop, he said, while not the equal of the rice taken from better soil, is unusually good for a field visited by Chambliss yesterday was that of R. Paulin, who is working a piece of 130 acres on the J. E. Dickinson property. Paulin's rice, also planted in alkali soil, is doing remarkably well and a good crop will be harvested.

Chambliss, who is making this his annual visit to San Joaquin valley points where rice cultivation is being experimented with, left last night for Bakersfield. From there he will visit Corcoran, where rice is grown extensively, and then return to his station at Bakers, Sutter county, California.

Chambliss has been fostering the rice industry in this state since 1908 where he commenced the culture of rice with a small piece of 57 acres. In 1912, 1400 acres were devoted to rice-growing and in the past year this figure has jumped to 70,000 acres.

"The reclamation of alkali lands through rice cultivation looks very promising," said Chambliss yesterday. "It may be the means of reclaiming all this land that is now lying idle because of the presence of alkali in the soil. Repeated cultivation to rice would wash out the salts and after several seasons, I think, the farmers would find that their waste land could then be planted to most any kind of crop. While carrying out the experiment a profit can be derived from the rice for alkali land will grow rice successfully. The quality of the rice will be inferior, but a fair crop should be realized with careful attention."

Rice cultivation requires continual irrigation, not only for a few days at a time. Chambliss said, but for five and six months at a time. During this period the water must stand several feet deep on the rice fields.

PLANS TO IMPROVE HOSPITAL ACCEPTED

Supervisors to Receive Bids Nov. 8; Work May Cost $55,000

Plans submitted by Architects Glass and Butner for the proposed addition to the Fresno County hospital, and also for the remodeling of the institution, were accepted yesterday by the board of supervisors and bids were called for to be opened November 8, at 3 p. m. The cost estimate made by the architects is $55,000.

The annex building will be 168.5 feet by 83 feet, and will be two stories high with basement. On the first floor will be an administration suite and dispensary and two large wards. On the second story it is intended to have wards for children. Each ward is to have special diet kitchens. Provisions have also been made for a roof garden in the front part of the building. The new building is to be fire proof. There are no stairs to the second story, a long slow incline being provided for the access to this floor.

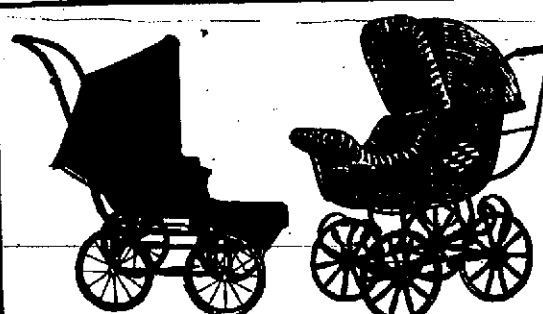

It is planned to remodel the second floor of the old hospital into a general hospital suite, in addition to the operating suite. In the way of latest improvements, the remodeling has also been made for an X-ray room. The remodeling scheme calls for changes in the present heating system of the hospital.
